Functional Space Program

What is Functional Space Programming (FSP):

Functional space programming develops a detailed list of interior and exterior spaces required to support a project. Programming is focused on quantifying spaces, developing the overall size of building or site and identifying ideal relationships between spaces. This process guides the development of the project.

Who is Responsible?

Key representatives as part of the Project Team have been engaged and have considered all applications of their respective areas to ensure that the needs and functions of the Municipality of Chatham Kent are captured as part of this process. These are then transitioned by the Architect into the Block Plans.

20,000 Level Program

What is the 20,000 Level Program:

The intention is to convey the notion that the Functional Space program (FSP) is considering everything; that is, they are capturing the the big picture.

Providing proof of concept for areas, locations and interrelationships to identify massing of areas in relationship to the proposed footprint of the building.

How is this done?

Block diagram or Schematic Design is the first phase of the architectural design process. At this stage, our design team begins to describe the architectural and tectonic elements of the project design. The team takes the programming and concept design, and translates it into architectural and spatial designs.

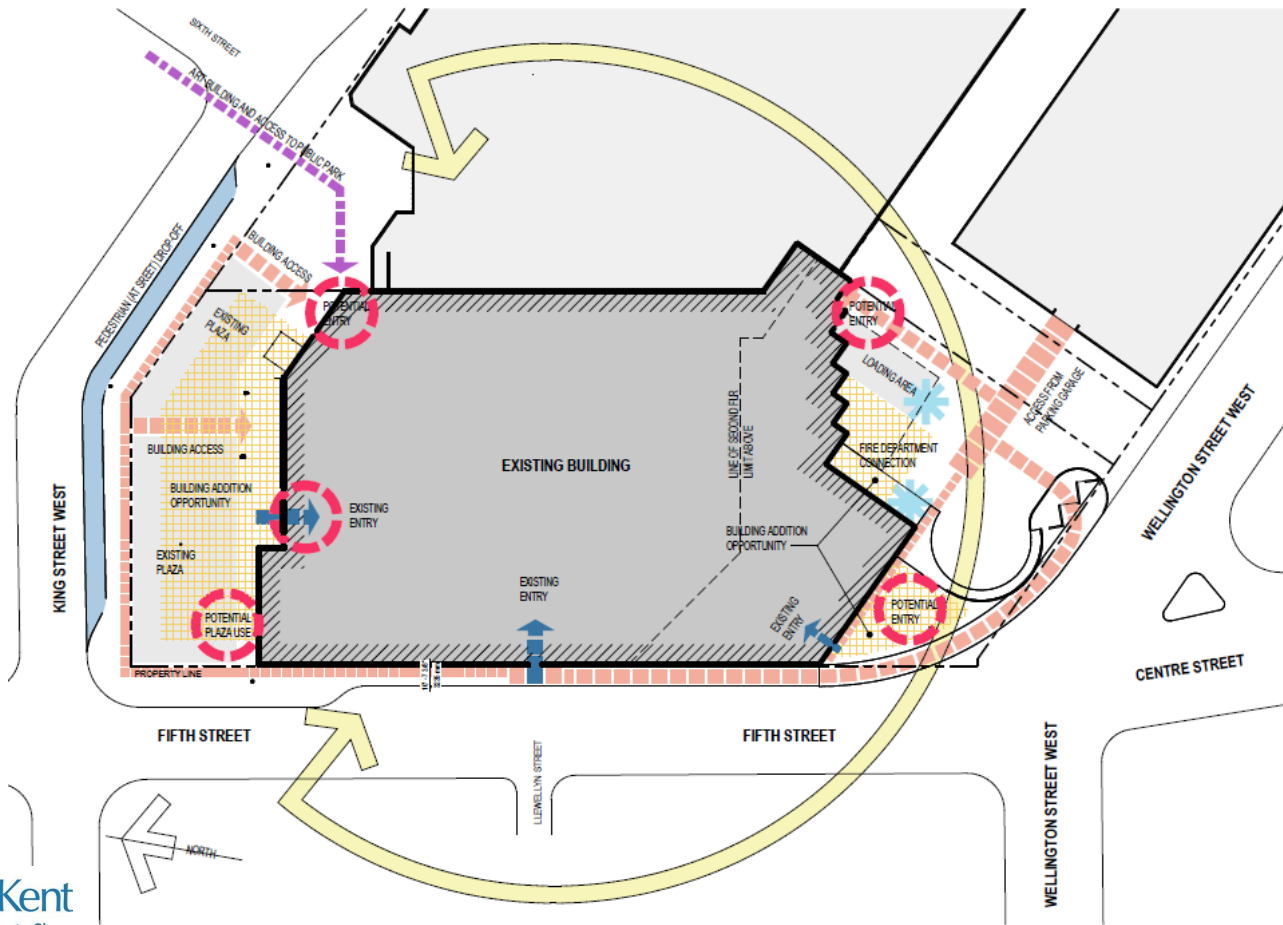

This accounts for space only and is not defining wall locations.

Room Data Sheets (RDS)

What are Room Data Sheets?

These represent the detailed briefing requirements of individual room types. If an external document refers to these RDS's, without qualifying the choice of options, then the default options will prevail.

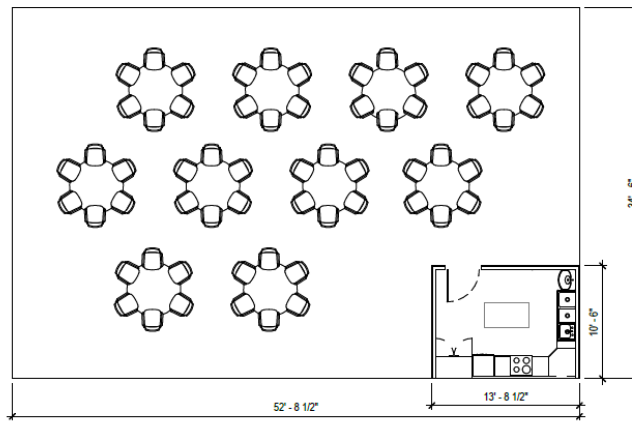

How will these be used?

Room data sheets are a means to communicate the client's requirements for each room and space in a project. Typically, room data sheets cover a diversity of topics such as dimensions, indoor climate specifications, finishes, fixtures and fittings, mechanical and electrical requirements.

These requirements will support the briefing memos and drive the Order of Magnitude costing (OME).

Facility Accessibility Design Standards (FADS)

What are Facility Accessibility Design Standards (FADS)?

Facility Accessibility Design Standards (FADS) refer to a set of guidelines, principles, and regulations aimed at ensuring that buildings, public spaces, and facilities are designed and constructed to be accessible to all individuals, including those with disabilities. FADS encompass various aspects of accessibility design, including physical features, such as ramps, elevators, and door widths, as well as sensory elements like signage and lighting. Adhering to FADS is essential for promoting inclusivity, accommodating diverse needs, and fostering equal access to built environments for everyone.

How will these be implemented?

- Understanding Codes and Regulations,
- Incorporating Inclusive Design Principles,
- Conducting Site Analysis and Assessment,
- Integrating Accessible Features,
- Addressing Sensory Considerations,
- Ensuring Documentation and Compliance,
- Continuing Maintenance and Monitoring.

1. Introductions – roundtable introductions
2. Review Terms of Reference
3. Project Overview
 - a. Overview of project benefits
 - b. Overview of project schedule
 - i. Committee requested clarification on the schedule and asked if there a milestone in 2026? Project Team responded No, that is during construction, construction extends from 2025 through to 2027.
 - c. Overview of ‘where we are’ in the process (and the nomenclature)
 - d. Overview of the Functional Space Program (FSP)
 - e. Presentation of the 20,000 foot level Program
 - i. Overview of the site analysis drawing and draft concept drawings provided by the Project Team.
 - ii. Block Diagrams
 1. The Project Team presented the initial building layout, detailing space functions, proposed modifications, access points, elevator and stair placement, washroom allocations, and community programming spaces with opportunities for shared use.
 - a. Committee raised concerns about washroom allocation for the library, advocating for dedicated washrooms. The Project Team explained the presence of common washrooms in the center of the building and dedicated washroom spaces for the children's area within the library and on the second floor.
 - b. Committee raised accessibility concerns regarding library entrances. The Project Team clarified that mid 5th street doors are exit only, with entrance from the inside corridor. Committee raised concerns about potential mobility issues due to parking location.

- c. Committee inquired about temperature and humidity control for the Museum, which the Project Team confirmed are accounted for.
 - d. Committee asked about dedicated space for conservation and collection, to which the Project Team confirmed are accounted for.
 - e. Committee raised security concerns related to the shared loading dock for the Museum. The Project Team acknowledged the shared space.
 - f. Committee questioned space availability for at-grade library materials pickup/drop off, which the Project Team confirmed next to the lower grade loading bays.
 - g. Committee inquired about costs, Project Team noted that cost discussions are deferred for review and reporting back to Council.
 - h. Committee asked about the cost associated with the existing building in relation to the Museum moving, which the Project Team noted as beyond the scope of the current discussion.
 - i. Committee asked about AV/technology for accessibility, with the Project Team confirming further discussion during the meeting.
2. The Project Team emphasized the design's focus on funneling the public into common areas, with potential for a secondary main entrance directly into the library from the rear.
 - a. Committee raised concerns about accessibility barriers for individuals with mobility needs. The Project Team noted that the building is highly accessible, though concerns about the distance to enter were noted.
 - b. Committee raised security questions regarding Council's accessibility to the public. The Project Team outlined plans for distinct Council areas within the chambers room and touchdown spaces for Councillors, ensuring separate working areas for security purposes. Detailed plans for managing delegations and public areas versus Council and administration seated areas will be developed further in the process.
 - c. Committee inquired about museum access on the second floor. The Project Team clarified that there will be no museum components on the second floor, only on the first floor.
3. Project Team provides overview of layout of second floor, library, public areas, stairs/elevator, access into library, remainder is staff area and will not be accessible to general public, concept of the layout for the administrative areas is that offices are located near the interior, cubicles near the exterior, allowing for more windows/daylight into the staff areas.

- a. Committee inquired about the grey area on the second-floor drawing, Project Team confirmed this as the first-floor roof. The Committee suggested potential greenery or outdoor uses for the roof. Project Team notes that the loading capacity and cost constraints require further review but notes as a point of consideration by the project team.
- iii. 3D Massing
 - 1. The Project Team provided an overview of 3D massing to offer dimensional context. They clarified that this representation may not reflect the final exterior and is solely to demonstrate potential massing and shape of the building at this stage. Further refinement will be done on the facade, windows, and exterior once the functional space program is confirmed.
 - a. Committee question about parking possibilities. Project Team notes that there may be the potential for pickup/drop-off on 5th Street, adding that they are considering identifying pickup/drop-off spaces on both 5th and King Streets, as well as accessible parking. These considerations will be part of the ongoing process and will involve public consultation on these elements.
- iv. Break - No not required.
- v. Room Data Sheets (RDS)
 - 1. The Project Team outlined the next stage, focusing on the development of Room Data Sheets (RDS) to specify detailed requirements for each room, including plugs, technology, and furniture placement. They emphasized the importance of articulating furniture management, room-specific requirements, and special features. This information will be integrated into the detail design phase for consultants, encompassing heating, cooling, electrical, and lighting design considerations.
- vi. Facility Accessibility Design Standards (FADS)
 - 1. The Committee expressed concerns about the Facility Accessibility Design Standards (FADS) meeting all accessibility requirements, stressing the need for accessibility to be integrated throughout the entire building design process. The Project Team clarified that FADS is a fundamental part of the design process, considering factors such as room layout and colors, which will be detailed in the room data sheets. They noted that this process is still ongoing. Committee emphasized the importance of providing recommendations before finalization and highlighted that while FADS are valuable, they may not always address functionality.
- vii. Project Team notes that we'll be sharing the presentation, Committee questioned what's the timeline for questions and feedback from the SEG Team?

1. Project Team noted we can work with timeframes to receive feedback next week/after meetings, or if there is another timeframe constraints/we can work with that.
 - a. Library board notes that they have a meeting next week, it was noted that Project Team can attend, and we can receive their feedback after, and for other groups, similarly we can work with them to receive their feedback once they've had a chance to review the materials. Marissa noted that this is an iterative process, that we will continue to refine and have discussions as we develop more of the details and have our second and third meetings.
- viii. Project Team notes that our next SEG meeting will be scheduled in approximately 4 weeks, once a timeline is confirmed, Project Team will issue an invite.
- ix. Project Team notes materials will be posted on Let's Talk page and link shared with the team for their review and feedback for and any questions they may have the Committee can reach out to Greg Benson directly.

 - Present changes and adaptations based on received feedback.
 - Allow for direct questions to the Architect and Project Team.

SEG Opportunity for Further Inquiries:

- Recognition of a one-week window following the presentation to formulate any additional feedback

Current Progress & Next Steps

- Looking Back:
 - We showed the schematic block diagrams earlier, giving a broad overview of how different parts of the project connect and what they're used for, instead of diving into every tiny detail. Think of it as a big picture view of our community's needs.
 - This helped us see the main features without getting lost in details, making everything clear for everyone.
 - We've reviewed feedback and will continue collaborating.

Current Progress & Next Steps

- Summary of current activities:
 - 5,000-foot Level - Detailed Block Design: We've transitioned from high-level block diagrams to Detailed (Concept) Block Designs, providing a more in-depth understanding of spatial organization and functionality, guided by team feedback.
 - In contrast, the 5,000-foot level program offers a slightly more detailed perspective than the 10,000-foot level previously reviewed.
 - While still providing a high-level view, the 5,000-foot level involves diving deeper into specific aspects of the program.
 - It allows for a more refined understanding of the project's scope, requirements, and dependencies, while still maintaining a degree of abstraction and simplicity.
 - Providing clarity of concept for areas, locations and interrelationships to identify massing of specific areas in relationship to the proposed footprint of the building.
 - Based on the Schematic Design is the first phase, our design team begins to outline the architectural elements of the project design. The team begins to consider specific details, spatial designs and some defining wall locations.

Current Progress & Next Steps

- Summary of current activities:
 - Room Data Sheets (RDS) - Updated: Revised room data sheets to capture feedback-driven changes, ensuring alignment with project requirements and stakeholder needs.
 - These are essential at this stage. They're like detailed blueprints for each room in our project, showing exactly what goes where and how it's used in a list format. Just like a recipe ensures every ingredient is in place for a perfect dish.
 - By capturing feedback-driven changes, they ensure alignment with project requirements and stakeholder needs. Room Data Sheets are vital for ensuring our project meets the needs of our community and stays on track for success
 - Room Data Sheets ensure every part of our project fits together as intended in the next phase perfectly. Their purpose is to both allow for assistance in a costing exercise in this phase and serves to outline the detail requirements of the next phase.

Current Progress & Next Steps

- Summary of current activities:
 - Facility Accessibility Design Standards (FADS) - Updated: At the 5,000-foot level, we're delving deeper into our project's details while still maintaining a broad perspective. It offers a more refined understanding of our project's scope, requirements, and dependencies, aligning with codes, and best practices. This level of detail provides clarity on areas, locations, and interrelationships, crucial for identifying massing and ensuring compliance with regulations
 - As part of the Room Data Sheets, we will identify additional special needs per room as applicable, such as color contrasts, optimal working heights, provisions for assisted listening devices, door openers and other accommodations. This ensures that each room is tailored to meet the diverse needs of our community while adhering to accessibility standards and best practices.

Stakeholder Engagement Group Meeting 1 Feedback (Summarized)

Stakeholder Engagement Group Feedback

Strengths:

- Adequate Space Allocation: The general spaces provided are deemed sufficient for museum display, offices, workrooms, and artifact storage, particularly within the 4,000 to 6,000 square feet range.
- Flexible Planning: The committee's observations allow for adaptability in planning, ensuring that space requirements can be adjusted based on the intended display area, promoting efficient resource allocation.
- Increased Square Footage: Allows for lower shelving heights, dedicated teen space, group study areas, and a maker space, catering to diverse community needs.
- Welcoming Spaces: Offers dedicated programming areas for children, teens, and adults, fostering community engagement and connection.
- Expanded Programming Opportunities: Enables the library to engage patrons of all ages with diverse programming and showcase more displays, promoting themed collections and community resources.
- Community Hub: Provides a platform for cultivating partnerships with other municipal departments and external agencies, offering topical programs, services, and resources to residents.

Feedback Discussion

Consideration:

- Storage Flexibility: Highlighting the potential need for increased storage if the display area expands beyond the suggested range, emphasizing the importance of aligning storage requirements with exhibition needs.
- Long-term Planning: The committee emphasizes the need for a clear understanding of the intended display area to ensure appropriate allocation of storage, office, and workroom space for the museum's sustainable usage over time.
 - Project Team: The Project Team has accounted for the current requirements of the project outline. Ensuring adaptability is key. Our design allows for potential expansion of exhibit areas, aligning with possible future needs. Any discussions on future expansion will need to consider stakeholder requirements.

Feedback Discussion

Consideration:

- Accessibility Concerns: Long corridors and mall navigation hinder library access, posing challenges for seniors, families, and individuals with mobility issues.
 - Project Team: The project Team is committed to following all best practices to mitigate challenges and ensure access for all stakeholders.
- Parking Issues: Insufficient accessible, short-term, and drop-off parking, coupled with limited long-term parking, raises concerns about convenience for patrons.
 - Project Team: The design includes additional barrier-free and short-term parking, surpassing code requirements. The Project Team will review opportunities for on street parking along 5th and King Street for drop off and accessible parking.
- Spatial Limitations: Inadequate space allocation for library expansion within the current footprint jeopardizes meeting future community needs.
 - Project Team: The design exceeds the required space for library expansion of 35,000 sq. ft., ensuring ample room for community growth. The current design accounts for 43,569 sq. ft. this is a net increase of 8,569 sq. ft. or 24.5%

Feedback Discussion

Consideration:

- Security and Atmosphere: Poor sightlines, a narrow layout, and limited outdoor gathering spaces may compromise staff security and create an unwelcoming atmosphere for patrons.
 - Project Team: Safety is paramount. Library sightlines have been refined for visibility and the property will be inclusive of welcoming indoor and outdoor spaces.
- Social Implications: Combining varied Civic Centre needs, including increased security measures, risks alienating vulnerable patrons, impacting the library's role as a vital public space.
 - Project Team: Maintaining inclusivity is crucial. The project team will prioritize the balancing of stakeholders' needs to preserve a welcoming space for all.
- Concerns about the Facility Accessibility Design Standards (FADS) meeting all accessibility requirements: Emphasized the need for accessibility to be considered throughout the entire building design process and highlighted that while FADS are beneficial, they may not always address functionality.
 - Project Team: Ensuring accessibility is paramount. While FADS are beneficial, our design process integrates accessibility considerations comprehensively by considering aspects like room layout, colors, and other elements. The project team will include best practices and prioritize functionality to ensure inclusivity.

Facility Accessibility Design Standards (FADS)

- It's important to note that at this stage, the design is focused on a high-level overview. However, the team are applying all relevant Ontario building codes related to accessibility, including those outlined in the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA).
 - We are also incorporating best practices to ensure inclusivity and accessibility for all members of our community.
 - In the current phase this is primarily thorough the Room data sheets,
 - The detailed design will be essential to fully implement these measures. The next phase of the project, the project team will thoroughly flush out all details to ensure that our design meets the highest standards of accessibility.

Facility Accessibility Design Standards (FADS)

In our ongoing assessment, the project team is carefully considering various accessibility features to ensure inclusivity and equal access for all. Some examples being reviewed include:

Assistive Listening Systems in the following areas:

- Council Chambers
- Meeting Rooms (All types and Sizes)
- C-K Service Counters
- Service Ontario Service Counters
- Registration Kiosks for Service Kiosks
- Main Entrance Signage and Video Boards
- Elevators
- Exit Stairs

Enhancing Wayfinding:

- Signs shall incorporate pronounced glare-free colour contrast.
- Assessing the inclusion of Braille signage for key areas such as room numbers, restroom signage, and directional signs to assist individuals with visual impairments
- A minimum contrast of 70% color contrast between different interfaces, for example - between the wall and the floor or the wall and the skirting. Bright colours and/or a highly contrasting tone shall be used to assist with wayfinding.
- Indicator floor tiles to be placed at entrances for all door, elevators and exit stairs

Facility Accessibility Design Standards (FADS)

Inclusive design requirements:

- Accessible Entrances: Assessing the presence of ramps or elevators to provide entry for individuals with mobility impairments.
- Barrier-Free Pathways: Reviewing the layout to ensure clear, wide pathways throughout the facility, allowing for easy navigation by individuals using mobility aids like wheelchairs or walkers.
- Accessible Restrooms: Ensuring the availability of accessible restrooms equipped with grab bars, spacious stalls, and accessible sinks for individuals with mobility challenges.
- Accessible Parking: Examining the provision of designated accessible parking spaces located close to building entrances, equipped with appropriate signage and pavement markings.
- Automatic Doors: Reviewing the availability of automatic door openers at building entrances to facilitate easy access for individuals with mobility impairments or those using mobility aids.
- Accessible Furniture: Evaluating the selection of furniture that accommodates individuals with varying needs, such as adjustable-height desks and tables, and seating with adequate support.

www.letstalkchatham-kent.ca/Community-hub

We, and the CKPL Board, appreciate the challenges associated with designing the CK Community Hub as well as the willingness to engage with stakeholder feedback. Our goal is to ensure Chatham-Kent Public Library meets the diverse needs of our community, especially our more than 34,000 card holding patrons, while maintaining high standards of accessibility, security, and operational efficiency. Unfortunately, the plan as presented does not permit the library to achieve these goals.

We are also concerned that many of the concerns about the CKPL space identified following the first Stakeholder Engagement Group (SEG) meeting have not been addressed. The minimal changes in the current document, i.e. the addition of a Fifth Street entrance and the addition of a single-use accessible washroom located on the south side of the building, fall short of addressing the overall lack of accessibility to the proposed library space. Moreover, both of these increase the operational burden on library staff, as well as heightening security risks.

The outstanding critical issues previously identified and not addressed include:

- Challenging Access: The library experiences the highest foot traffic of the three proposed hub services (about double the number of the other two combined, approaching 14,000 each month), yet the proposed design creates the most challenging access for library users. Specifically, long distances and lengthy corridors impede access, particularly affecting seniors, families with young children and people with mobility issues.
- Inefficient Layout: The current plan of positioning the library on two floors fails to enhance staffing efficiency, workflows, sight lines and security compared to the existing branch layout. Locating primary library services on the first floor would significantly improve accessibility and operational efficiency. Library staff spaces must be clearly defined within the plan.
- Inadequate Parking: The limited availability of accessible, short-term and drop off parking for library patrons is problematic. We propose designating at least one short-term parking spot for book returns and additional spaces for pregnant mothers and families with small children, as well as a dedicated parking spot for the courier van.

The existing parking facility is of great concern. While we acknowledge that the mall owner is required to address structural issues in the parking structure, including lighting and barrier-free parking, these measures alone are not sufficient to create a safe, welcoming and appropriate environment. Moreover, the dependence on private elevators to access the library from the second and third levels of the parking garage is not acceptable.

- Limited Expansion Capacity: The current footprint restricts future expansion, which is crucial as the community grows.

Attached is an alternative library space allocation which enhances staffing efficiency, workflows, sight lines and security. It enables ease of library access from both the street, the mall and parking garage levels. It allows for public use of the second-floor northeast corner of the building, while restricting the remainder of the second floor to exclusive municipal employee use. It ensures continued public access to Service Ontario and municipal customer service counters. It enables ease of public access to Council chambers, while allowing for optimal safety measures and councillors' amenities to be implemented. Using their expertise, we trust the architectural and project management teams will effectively incorporate this vision into the Community Hub plan.

We look forward to addressing these outstanding critical issues collaboratively and remain optimistic and committed to achieving a shared vision for a welcoming and vibrant library that best meets the needs of our community, today and tomorrow.

Stakeholder Engagement Group Meeting 1&2 Feedback (Summarized)

Stakeholder Engagement Group Feedback Summarized

Library's Feedback:

- The proposed plan doesn't meet the needs of the community and lacks accessibility.
- Issues include challenging access, inefficient layout, inadequate parking, limited expansion capacity, and dependence on private elevators.
- Proposes an alternative space allocation to enhance efficiency, accessibility, and security.

Accessibility Advisory Feedback:

- Emphasizes exceeding minimum accessibility standards and incorporating best practices.
- Highlights concerns about parking distance, elevator access, location of washrooms, universal design considerations, assistive listening devices, hand sanitization options, and garbage pail accessibility.
- Suggests specific changes to address concerns, such as relocating the Council chambers and ensuring all public library services are on the first floor if second-floor access is restricted.

Museum Feedback:

- Storage Flexibility: Potential need for increased storage if display areas expand, aligning storage with exhibition needs.
- Long-term Planning: Emphasis on understanding display areas to ensure proper allocation of storage, office, and workroom space for sustainability.

Feedback Discussion from SEG 1

Consideration

- Storage Flexibility: Highlighting the potential need for increased storage if the display area expands beyond the suggested range, emphasizing the importance of aligning storage requirements with exhibition needs.
- Long-term Planning: The committee emphasizes the need for a clear understanding of the intended display area to ensure appropriate allocation of storage, office, and workroom space for the museum's sustainable usage over time.
 - Project Team: The Project Team has accounted for the current requirements of the project outline. Ensuring adaptability is key. The design allows for potential expansion of exhibit areas, aligning with possible future needs. Any discussions on future expansion will need to consider stakeholder requirements.

Feedback Discussion from SEG 1

Consideration:

- Accessibility Concerns: Long corridors and mall navigation hinder library access, posing challenges for seniors, families, and individuals with mobility issues.
 - Project Team: The project Team is committed to following all best practices to mitigate challenges and ensure access for all stakeholders.
- Parking Issues: Insufficient accessible, short-term, and drop-off parking, coupled with limited long-term parking, raises concerns about convenience for patrons.
 - Project Team: The design includes additional barrier-free and short-term parking, surpassing code requirements. The Project Team will review opportunities for on street parking along 5th and King Street for drop off and accessible parking.
- Spatial Limitations: Inadequate space allocation for library expansion within the current footprint jeopardizes meeting future community needs.
 - Project Team: The design exceeds the required space for library expansion of 35,000 sq. ft., ensuring ample room for community growth. The current design accounts for 43,569 sq. ft. this is a net increase of 8,569 sq. ft. or 24.5%

Feedback Discussion from SEG 1

Consideration:

- Security and Atmosphere: Poor sightlines, a narrow layout, and limited outdoor gathering spaces may compromise staff security and create an unwelcoming atmosphere for patrons.
 - Project Team: Safety is paramount. Library sightlines have been refined for visibility and the property will be inclusive of welcoming indoor and outdoor spaces.
- Social Implications: Combining varied Civic Centre needs, including increased security measures, risks alienating vulnerable patrons, impacting the library's role as a vital public space.
 - Project Team: Maintaining inclusivity is crucial. The project team will prioritize the balancing of stakeholders' needs to preserve a welcoming space for all.
- Concerns about the Facility Accessibility Design Standards (FADS) meeting all accessibility requirements: Emphasized the need for accessibility to be considered throughout the entire building design process and highlighted that while FADS are beneficial, they may not always address functionality.
 - Project Team: Ensuring accessibility is paramount. While FADS are beneficial, our design process integrates accessibility considerations comprehensively by considering aspects like room layout, colors, and other elements. The project team will include best practices and prioritize functionality to ensure inclusivity.

Additional Feedback Discussions

Consideration:

Accessibility and Location:

Inconvenient Access: The proposed design positions the library in a less accessible location compared to the Council Chambers and Museum. Long distances and lengthy corridors impede access, particularly for seniors, families with young children, and people with mobility issues.

Project Team:

- Access to the library from all entry points, whether through the mall or the exterior of the building, is being carefully considered in the design process. To ensure accessibility for all stakeholders, including those with diverse needs, the design incorporates elevators, architectural stairs, and other amenities across all floors of the library, museum, and civic areas within the hub.
- Dedicated Facilities: Dedicated washroom facilities are being considered to enhance the comfort and convenience of patrons.
- The proposed entry points in the current design provides similar access to both Library and Museum main entrances. These entrance are purposely located within the centre of the floor plan to provide equal access to washrooms, stair and elevators (for staff), Universal washroom, Family washrooms gender neutral washroom and nursing rooms.

Additional Feedback Discussions

Consideration:

Parking Challenges:

The existing parking facility raises significant safety and accessibility concerns. Structural issues, lighting, and barrier-free parking alone are insufficient. Reliance on private elevators is deemed unacceptable.

Project Team:

- Barrier-Free and Short-Term Parking: The project team notes that the design includes additional barrier-free and short-term parking, in addition to the parking being provided by the mall owners. The Project Team would note that the mall owners are required through our agreement to provide and maintain parking spaces that includes for all Barrier Free parking for the property. The Project Team will also review opportunities for on-street parking along 5th and King Street for drop-off and accessible parking.
- Library is equipped with a dedicated elevator, architectural feature stair, and two exit stairs all within the Library area.
- The current design provides 4 additional barrier free parking spaces at the rear entrance to the Library
- Parking Lighting: the project team recognize the importance of adequate lighting in parking areas for safety and convenience. Currently, we are in discussions with the mall owners to review and assess the lighting in both the parking garage and the surrounding parking areas.

Additional Feedback Discussions

Consideration:

Expansion Limitations:

Limited Expansion Capacity: The current footprint restricts future expansion, which is crucial for accommodating community growth. Provision should be made for future expansion to meet growing demands.

Project Team:

- The design exceeds the required space for library expansion of 35,000 sq. ft., ensuring ample room for community growth. The current design accounts for 43,569 sq. ft., a net increase of 8,569 sq. ft., or 24.5%, providing flexibility to accommodate future needs as the community evolves
- In all instances, all 3 main program functions achieve their current space demands in addition to future growth. The civic centre is equipped with a 13% growth within their respective area.
- The proposed addition facing King Street can be equipped with future expansion capability. This would provide for an additional 10,000 sq. ft. which would permit approx. 9.8% of total building growth potential by designing the structural system to support and additional floor.

Additional Feedback Discussions

Consideration:

Washroom Accessibility:

- Universal Washroom Access: There should be universally accessible washrooms on both floors, designed to be fully inclusive with features such as assistive buttons, adjustable counters, adult change tables, and appropriately placed hand dryers and soap dispensers. Washrooms should be gender-neutral to accommodate all gender identities.
- Distances to washrooms

Project Team:

- Washroom placement within the facility ensures they are conveniently accessible to the public, aligning with best practices that suggest accessible washrooms should ideally be within 45-60 meters (approximately 150-200 feet) from the areas they serve.

Additional Feedback Discussions

Consideration:

Alternative Proposal:

Alternative Space Allocation: An alternative library space allocation is proposed to enhance staffing efficiency, workflows, sight lines, and security. This plan aims to provide easy access to the library from the street, mall, and parking garage levels, while allowing public use of certain second-floor

Project Team:

- Modernized Environment: The project Team notes that the CK Hub aims to integrate the Civic Centre, Library, and Museum into a modernized environment, providing an opportunity to meet current needs and future trends. Civic buildings are vital to a community's identity, and the CK Hub's success relies on strong collaboration among all three participants.
- Community Identity: The Civic Centre should lead the building's concept, fostering a strong connection with residents and visitors while presenting a welcoming gateway for potential investors. Strategic placement of key functions such as the Council Chamber and customer service areas are crucial, requiring strategic placement for accessibility and security.

Additional Feedback Discussions

Consideration:

Alternative Space Allocation: An alternative library space allocation is proposed to enhance staffing efficiency, workflows, sight lines, and security. This plan aims to provide easy access to the library from the street, mall, and parking garage levels, while allowing public use of certain second-floor

Project Team:

- Design Adjustments: The suggestions for relocating the Council Chambers and adjusting library space have been considered. This potential adjustment does not fit with the building concept whereby the principle entrance for the CK Hub is proposed to be from King Street. The King Street entrance maximizes the potential for greater plaza and seating area along with access to an existing large drop off zone and bus drop off. This opportunity is a key design principle for the CK Hub that can provide benefit to all 3 users. The outdoor plaza in close proximity to principle entrance and indoor reception & security is typical to all civic buildings. CK Hub when considered as a Civic Building, should be expressed as a cornerstone within the downtown core. The building expression is best when the King Street frontage is used and is a key consideration why the principle entrance is located on this building face and all users can take advantage of.

Additional Feedback Discussions

Consideration:

Assistive Technologies:

Assistive Listening Devices: These should be available throughout the building, with a preference for Bluetooth technology to aid individuals with hearing impairments.

Project Team:

- The Project Team will ensure that assistive listening devices, preferably with Bluetooth technology, are available throughout the building to support individuals with hearing impairments.

3. Review of Agenda
 - a. No comments and accepted.
4. Project Overview
 - a. Overview of project benefits
 - i. The Project Team presented an overview of the proposed objectives and benefits of the Chatham Kent Community Hub and were summarized as increased community engagement, cost savings and sustainability benefits, efficient use of space, streamlined access to services and boost to local engagement and economy.
 - Committee comment: Acknowledged that the library is not the sole driver of this initiative. However, concerns were raised that the proposed accommodations might not match the quality of the existing library. That administration should consider that the library represents 2x the traffic of other stakeholder within this proposed building. The Project Team reiterated that the project is ensuring to provide first rate service to the library and that the team is committed to considering and providing best options to Council.
 - b. Overview of project schedule
 - i. The Project Team presented an overview of the schedule and provided an update on current progress that has now outlined the proposed block plans to the Chatham Kent Community Hub. The project Team noted that the Public Engagement would occur later this summer along with Stakeholder Engagement

Group meeting #3.

c. Presentation of the Block Diagrams

- i. The Project Team provided a comprehensive presentation, beginning with an overview of the site plan, followed by detailed reviews for the first and second floor block plans. The site plan was introduced, highlighting key elements such as access points, and the overall layout of the property in relation to the surrounding area. The team emphasized how the site plan is designed to maximize both functionality and aesthetic appeal, ensuring integration with the existing infrastructure and community. The Project Team outlined the strategic placement of key facilities and public spaces. The proposed layout was discussed, noting it is intended to optimize foot traffic flow and accessibility, with particular attention given to the placement of high-traffic areas such as entrances, lobbies, washrooms and common spaces. The Project Team also discussed how the design also accommodates essential services, ensuring they are centrally located to serve both staff and visitors effectively that included the arrangement of office spaces, meeting rooms, and other specialized areas. The Project Team discussed how the design supports the building's overall functionality, promoting collaboration and efficiency and also highlighted specific considerations taken into account, such as natural lighting, noise reduction, and flexible space utilization, all of which contribute to a modern, adaptable work environment.
 - Question from SEG: will there be security at this site and who is paying? The Project Team noted that shared services will be provided for all operational hours and 24/7/365 is also being considered from a security perspective.
 - Question from SEG: will there be access to/from library 2nd floor from the mall? The Project Team clarified that there is only emergency exiting available in the library space for the second floor into the mall. These doors will likely be supplied with magnetic locks to ensure that there is not access to the secured administrative spaces.
 - Question from SEG was raised about the location and types of washroom facilities. The Project Team outlined the theory for the placements in the proposed locations to address best practices and the requirements and the differences between a barrier free washroom and a universal washroom as outlined within the design.
 - Question from SEG: requested clarification if the mall would have access to the proposed loading dock. The Project Tea confirmed that this is a secured area and is not shared with the mall.
 - Question from SEG: what if the library does not want to move could another group move in? Project Team noted that this would be a decision for Council.

- Question from SEG: if the museum moves out of the cultural center how will the Kiwanis Theatre and the Thames Art Gallery be considered in the domino effect. The project team noted that this is not a part of the project deliverable but acknowledge the comment.

d. Feedback From SEG1 & Individual Committee meetings

The project team presented the overall feedback received from the SEG 1 meeting and the subsequent Individual Committee meetings and are summarized and available for reference online. The Project Team noted that it is committed to reviewing the design to consider stakeholder concerns while maintaining the CK Hub as a modern, inclusive community space.

- i. The committee raised a concern regarding accessibility to the library second floor or for people accessing the site who are not able to travel long distances, or parents with small children. The Project Team confirmed that the design meets the target for accessibility considerations and best practices with a travel distance of approximately 200 – 250 feet from the parking garage to the building.

e. Next Steps Discussion:

- i. The Project Team outlined the upcoming actions necessary for advancing the CK Hub project. The immediate focus will be on refining the concept, including the development of Design Briefs and Room Data Sheets, as well as updating the cost estimate. Additionally, 3D renderings will be created to provide a visual representation of the project.
- ii. The project Team noted that public consultation and the SEG 3 meeting are tentatively scheduled to be completed in the summer. Following these steps, the team will finalize the concept and cost estimate, and the project will then be presented to Council for review and decision.

Adjournment

Meeting adjourned at ~830 pm.

Chatham-Kent Public Library Board Statement

Chatham-Kent Public Library's Mission is “to be an indispensable centre of culture, community and learning in Chatham-Kent”.

The Library Board appreciates this opportunity to create a modern, vibrant and inviting library with expanded community programming space, in collaboration with the Museum and municipal services.

It is the Library Board's position that the library must have a position of prominence within the CK Community Hub, as library patrons will provide two thirds of the anticipated foot traffic.

A safe, accessible and equitable space for staff and all library patrons is of highest importance for the success of the library within the CK Community Hub; there is concern that these goals may not be easily attained within the proposed CK Community Hub design.

The Library Board is determined, through ongoing constructive dialogue with the project team, to continue to focus the conversation on reliable ease of access, especially for our patrons with mobility challenges, and to address ongoing operational safety concerns for both staff and the public.

It is the collective opinion of the Library Board that a continued, open and collaborative working relationship with the project team will result in the best possible outcome for all.

- Chatham-Kent Public Library Board, July 13, 2024

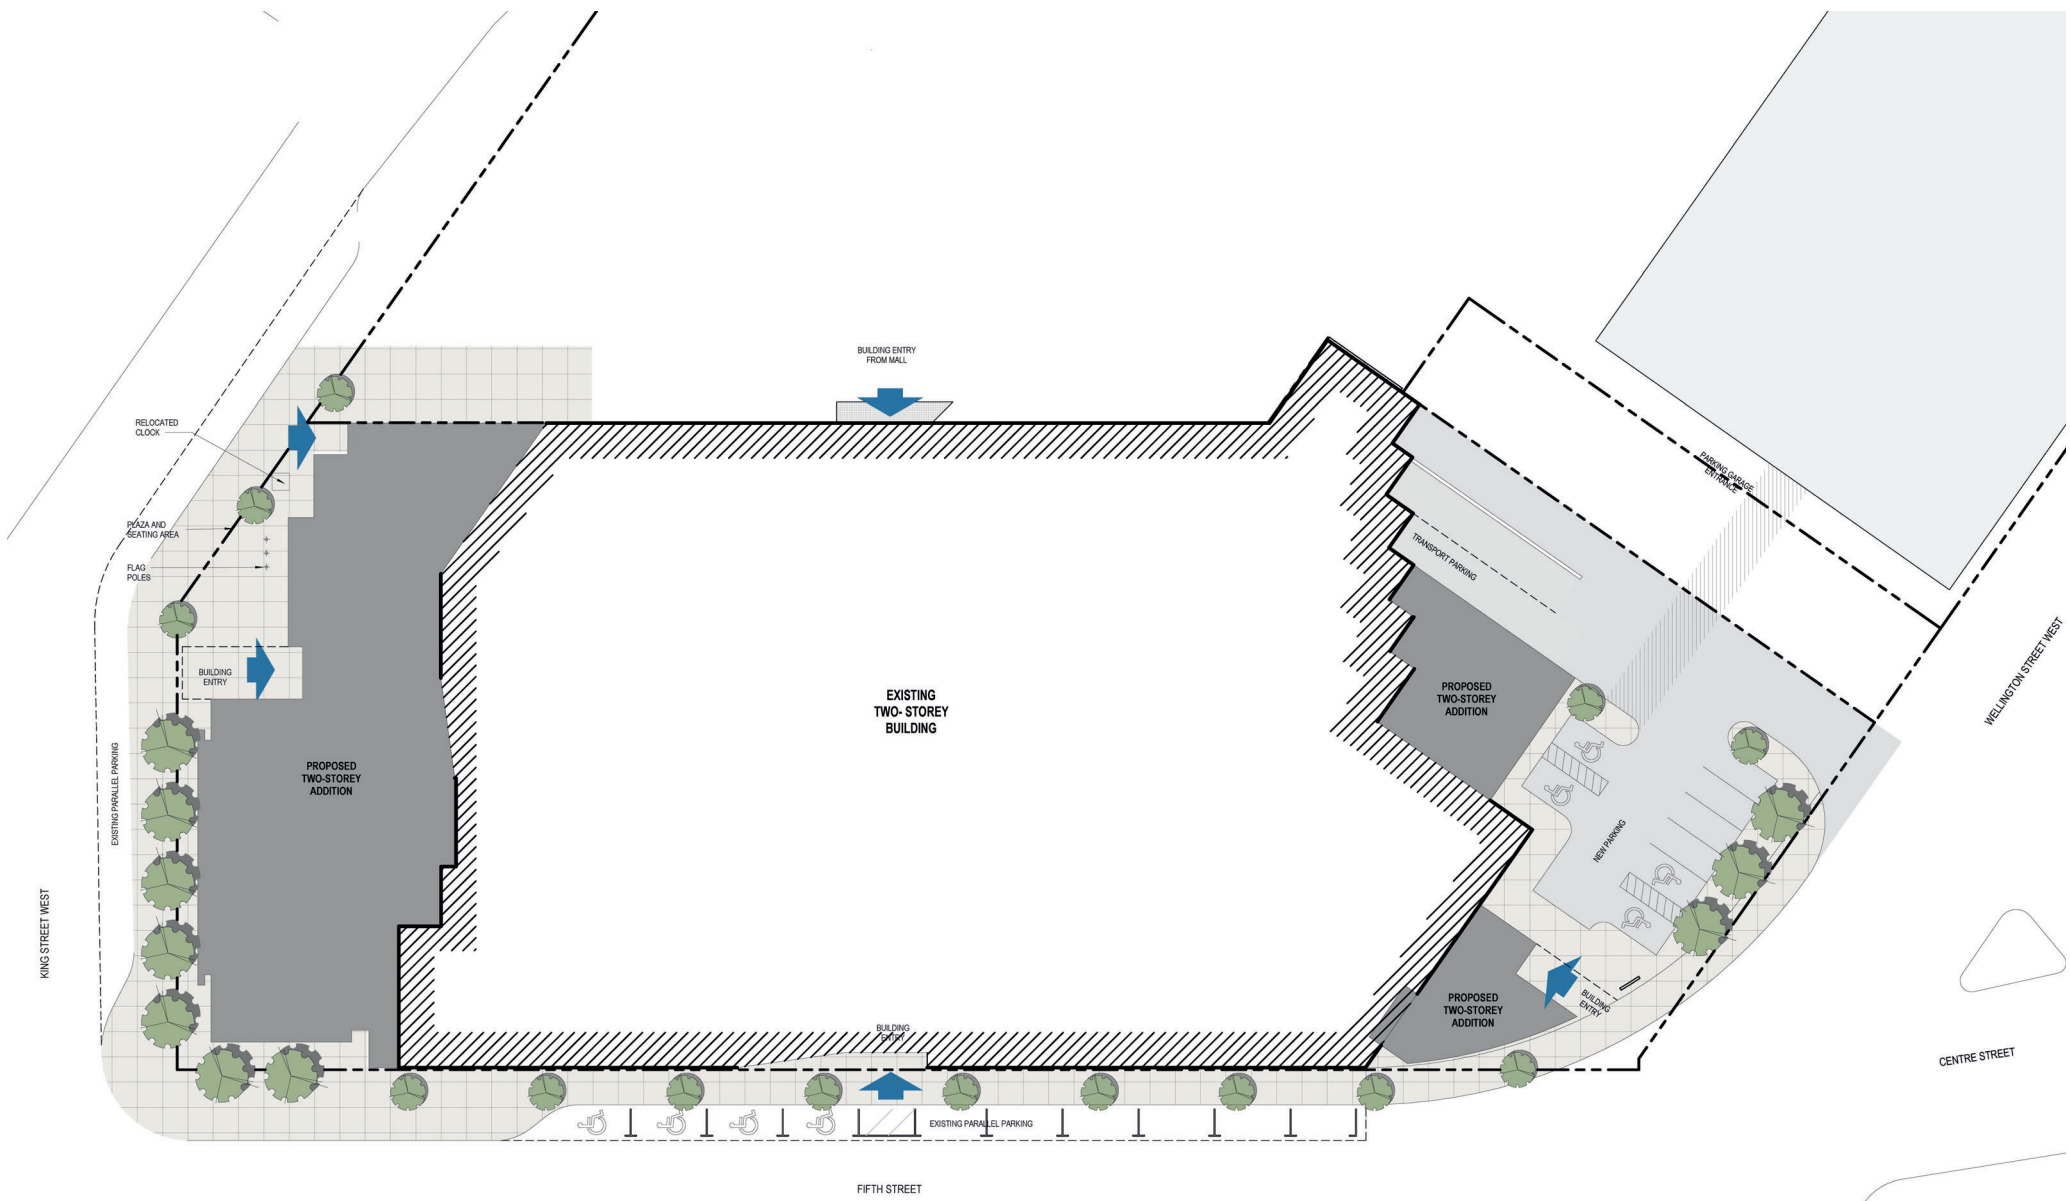

Building a community hub that combines a civic centre, library, and museum fosters a cohesive, efficient, and vibrant community with multifaceted benefits.

Feedback Summarized:		Project Team Response
Theme/Description
Parking
1	Limited Accessible Parking: Not all individuals with mobility challenges will have a permit for an accessible space	Barrier-Free and Short-Term Parking: The design includes additional barrier-free and short-term parking, surpassing requirements. Through the Municipality's agreement with the mall, the mall is also required provide and maintain 175 dedicated parking spaces (with the option to procure an additional 25) for administration staff and are required to supply for all Barrier Free parking for the property as mandated. The Project Team is also reviewing opportunities to designate on-street parking along 5th and King Street for drop-off and accessible parking. Recognizing that not all individuals with mobility challenges possess accessible parking permits, additional measures to accommodate these individuals will be explored.
2	Concerns about the adequacy of parking at the new site, particularly for those with mobility issues	Same as Parking note 1
3	Caregivers with Young Children: Parking spaces specifically for parents with young children are needed.	Same as Parking note 1
4	Parking Garage Accessibility: Lack of an elevator in the garage forces people who cannot use stairs to traverse through car traffic, posing a safety risk.	Accessible parking will be located near the nearest exit point (on the main floor or near the bridges) of the parking garage to allow safe access. The mall operator will be required to maintain all elements, including elevators and public access doors, to meet applicable building code requirements.
5	Distance to Facilities: The distance from parking areas to washrooms and municipal spaces is a significant concern	The proposed entry points in the current design provides similar access to both Library and Museum main entrances. These entrances are purposely located within the centre of the floor plan to provide equal access to washrooms, stair and elevators, universal washroom, family washrooms gender neutral washroom and nursing rooms.
6	Parking Garage: Comments suggest that the existing parking facility raises significant safety and accessibility concerns. Structural issues, lighting, and barrier-free parking along with reliance on private elevators is seen as unacceptable	A comprehensive structural review has been completed, and as part of the purchase agreement, the mall owners must correct any deficiencies before the Community Hub opens. This includes improving lighting for safety and ensuring barrier-free parking is fully accessible. The project team will collaborate with the mall owners to consider concerns about private elevators and that the parking facility meets safety and accessibility standards for all residents.
7	Pleased that the project considers the needs of both drivers and non-drivers in its parking design	Noted
8	The inclusion of electric vehicle charging stations in the parking plan is seen as a forward-thinking and environmentally friendly addition.	Noted
9	Support for the idea of having parking options that cater to a variety of users, including families, seniors, and people with disabilities.	Noted
10	Supportive of efforts to improve parking accessibility, especially for those with disabilities	Noted
11	Concerns that the proposed parking options may not be sufficient to meet the demand, especially during peak times	The plan includes garage and surface lot parking options, additional surface lot spaces by the library, and on-street parking. Designated on-street spaces for short-term, pick-up/drop-off, and accessible parking are being considered to ensure efficient management during peak times and improve accessibility for all users.
12	Parking Security: Concerns about the safety and security of the parking areas, particularly for evening use	Security within the building will be enhanced with dedicated security personnel employed by the municipality. Additionally, increased lighting and surveillance cameras will be installed to improve overall security within the Hub.
13	Concerns that the parking plan does not adequately account for the needs of those who rely on public transportation or alternative modes of travel.	The access plan has been designed with consideration for all users, including those relying on public transportation. The transfer station, located directly across the street, provides convenient access to various transit options and alternative modes of travel. This proximity is intended to support residents who use public transit.
Accessibility - General

1	Reliance on public access doors and elevators outside municipal control, which may not be reliably maintained, is unacceptable	The Mall owners are required by codes and laws to ensure that their facility remains accessible. The municipality will work with the mall owners to ensure of regular inspections and maintenance are occurring to ensure consistent functionality.
2	Inconvenient Access: The proposed design places the library farther from the Council Chambers and Museum, making it less accessible. Long distances and lengthy corridors hinder access, especially for seniors, families with young children, and people with mobility issues.	Access to the amenities from all entry points, whether through the mall or the exterior of the building, has been carefully considered in the design process. To ensure accessibility for all stakeholders, including those with diverse needs, the design incorporates elevators, architectural stairs, and other amenities across all floors of the library, museum, and civic areas within the hub.
3	Washroom Access: Both floors should have universally accessible washrooms with assistive buttons, adjustable counters, adult change tables, and well-placed hand dryers and soap dispensers. Washrooms must be gender-neutral to accommodate all gender identities.	Dedicated washroom facilities have been provided to enhance the comfort and convenience of patrons.
4	Concerns regarding distances to washrooms	Washroom placement within the facility ensures they are conveniently accessible to the public, aligning with best practices that suggest accessible washrooms should ideally be within 45-60 meters (approximately 150-200 feet) from the areas they serve. The design currently falls within this guideline.
5	Wayfinding and Signage: Concerns regarding certain areas of the building may be difficult to navigate, particularly for seniors or those with mobility challenges	Accessibility is a top priority. The project team is ensuring that the building complies with accessibility code requirements and best practices, including clear signage, wayfinding, automated doors, and elevators. The design will facilitate easy navigation for everyone, including those with mobility challenges and seniors.
6	Concerns have been raised about the accessibility of different levels within the building	Same as Accessibility - General note 5
7	Concern for the importance of ensuring that all entrances and exits are fully accessible	Same as Accessibility - General note 5
Accessibility - Barrier Free
1	Feedback highlights the importance of providing barrier-free access to all areas of the Hub to accommodate individuals with mobility challenges.	Noted
2	Respondents are supportive of the plans to include ramps, elevators, and other accessibility features	Noted
3	The initiative to improve access for those with disabilities is seen as a necessary and positive step	Noted
4	Community members are encouraged by the plans to ensure that the building meets modern accessibility standards	Noted
5	Barrier-free access: Some feedback notes concern that the accessibility features may not go far enough to meet the needs of all users	The project's goal is to create a facility that meets the needs of all residents, including those with disabilities. Close collaboration with consultants and community stakeholders will ensure that the design and execution prioritize inclusivity and adhere to best practices in accessibility standards.
6	Concerns have been raised about the potential for overcrowding, which could limit the effectiveness of accessibility features	Same as Accessibility - Barrier Free note 5
7	Emphasizes exceeding minimum accessibility standards and incorporating best practices.	Same as Accessibility - Barrier Free note 5
8	There is a concern that accessibility might be compromised by budget constraints.	Same as Accessibility - Barrier Free note 5

9	Concerns exist about the effective integration of accessibility features into the overall facility design.	Same as Accessibility - Barrier Free note 5
10	Improvement of Accessibility Features: There is a concern for improvements in accessibility features, such as installing more ramps, elevators, and accessible restrooms, or features to ensure full inclusion.	The project team is committed to following all best practices to mitigate challenges and ensure access for all stakeholders. Entrances are being designed for at grade to remove the need for ramps. Washroom placement within the facility ensures they are conveniently accessible to the public, aligning with best practices that suggest accessible washrooms should ideally be within 45-60 meters (approximately 150-200 feet) from the areas they serve.
11	Assistive Listening Devices: These should be available throughout the building, with a preference for Bluetooth technology to aid individuals with hearing impairments.	Assistive listening devices will be included throughout the building.
Design and Layout
1	The two-floor design does not enhance staffing efficiency, workflows, sight lines, or security compared to the current single-floor layout. Primary library services should be on the first floor to improve accessibility and operational efficiency.	Second Floor Access and Library Services: Comprehensive measures have been undertaken to address access concerns. The design incorporates elevators, architectural stairs, and other amenities across all floors. Dedicated washroom facilities have been provided to enhance the comfort and convenience of patrons. The municipality is committed to fostering inclusivity and creating an environment where everyone feels welcome and accommodated.
2	Concern that the layout could lead to inefficiencies, with some spaces potentially underutilized	The layout has been optimized to improve flow, efficiency, and accessibility, incorporating flexibility for future needs. Key facilities have been strategically placed to enhance access and user interaction.
3	Concerns suggesting that the design does not prioritize accessibility, which could limit the Hub's usability for all residents	Same as Design and Layout note 2
4	Concerns have been raised about whether the design provides adequate space for all intended services and activities.	The design has been carefully reviewed to ensure it accommodates all functions effectively, with sufficient space allocated for each service and activity. Ongoing assessments and adjustments will address any space-related issues.
5	Feedback suggest concerns about the potential for increased crime or vandalism due to inadequate security measures.	The project team is implementing comprehensive security measures into the design, including surveillance cameras and improved lighting, to address general safety concerns and potential criminal activity. These design features will also be complemented by security personnel supplied by the Municipality.
6	Concerns that the presence of homeless individuals might lead to increased security challenges	Same as Design and Layout note 5
7	Museum storage flexibility: Potential need for increased storage if display areas expand, aligning storage with exhibition needs.	Long-term planning is central to the Chatham-Kent Community Hub project. Display areas, storage, office, and workroom spaces are strategically allocated to meet current needs and support future growth, ensuring the Hub remains a valuable asset for the municipality.

4	The idea of revitalizing a central location to attract more visitors and residents is seen as a significant advantage.	Noted

5	Comments suggested enhancing the downtown area's aesthetic will contribute positively to the overall image of Chatham-Kent.	Noted
6	Some respondents identified concerns that revitalization might not address current issues related to safety and crime.	The project team is implementing comprehensive security measures into the design, including surveillance cameras and improved lighting, to address general safety concerns and potential criminal activity. These design features will also be complemented by security personal supplied by the Municipality.
7	There are concerns that without addressing underlying problems, revitalization might not achieve its intended goals	Same as Revitalization of Downtown note 6
8	Concerns exists about whether the changes will translate into tangible benefits for the community	Same as Revitalization of Downtown note 6
9	Local Investment: Some feel that the focus on downtown revitalization could neglect other areas in need of improvement	This project is part of Council's strategic priorities, addresses needs and recommendations for multiple municipal facility assets, and includes a Financial Plan. The Municipality will continue to ensure that resourcing and funding is in place for other service areas and infrastructure as required.
Modernization
1	The fresh, modern look and updated design of the space are seen as positive changes	Noted
2	The modernization of the facilities is appreciated for its potential to revitalize downtown	Noted
3	The new design is seen as an improvement over the existing, outdated facilities.	Noted
4	Comments provided suggest the revitalization effort is seen as a step toward modernizing and enhancing the city's appeal and that some respondents believe that a refreshed downtown will attract more investment and tourism	Noted
5	Modernization is expected to enhance functionality and user experience	Noted
6	Some respondents noted questions as to if the new design will provide real benefits or become a cost burden.	Modernization efforts aim to enhance both aesthetics and functionality to meet community needs. Ongoing evaluations and feedback will guide any necessary adjustments to ensure the project's success.
7	Some concerns noted that the modernization might not address the actual needs of the community	Same as Modernization note 6
8	Some respondents noted concerns that the revitalization could inadvertently exacerbate existing issues rather than solve them	Same as Modernization note 6
9	Some respondents noted questions regarding the practicality and necessity of the modern design.	Same as Modernization note 6
10	Some respondents noted concerns that the project might not prioritize essential improvements needed for current downtown challenges.	The project is focused on addressing current downtown challenges and future community needs by prioritizing improvements in safety, accessibility, and functionality. These efforts aim to create a downtown area that meets residents' needs now and adapts to future growth and changes.
11	The aesthetic improvements may not translate into enhanced functionality or better services	Same as Modernization note 10
12	The focus on modernization might overshadow other important aspects of the project.	The approach balances modernization with key priorities such as safety, accessibility, community engagement, and functionality. The plan is comprehensive, addressing all aspects essential to the community's needs and well-being.
Centralized Location

1	The idea of having various municipal services in one location is appealing for accessibility and convenience	Noted
2	Centralized services are expected to reduce travel time and simplify access for residents.	Noted
3	The central location is expected to foster better community interaction and engagement	Noted
Increased Space
1	The expansion and improvement of facilities like the library and museum are appreciated	Noted
2	Additional space will allow for more extensive collections and programming at the museum	Noted
3	The enlarged library will provide better resources and a more comfortable environment for users.	Noted
4	Increased space is seen as a positive development for enhancing community services	Noted
5	The project's focus on expanding key facilities aligns with community needs for greater capacity	Noted
6	Respondents question whether the expansion will truly meet the growing needs or just add more space	The expansion is designed to address growing needs, not just add more space. It includes features and improvements specifically tailored to accommodate future demands and enhance overall functionality.
Existing Infrastructure
1	Concerns were raised about the future of current municipal buildings and the risk of increased vacancies	Administration is assessing the future use of current buildings to ensure they continue to serve the community. The goal is to balance new developments with the needs of existing infrastructure to maximize community benefits.
2	Some respondents believe the focus should be on renovating existing facilities rather than building new ones	While renovation is an option, building new facilities can provide more modern, efficient, and flexible spaces that better meet the community's current and future needs. The goal is to balance preserving existing assets with creating new opportunities for growth and improvement.
3	There are worries that increased space might lead to underuse or mismanagement of existing facilities	Increased space will be managed to ensure effective use and prevent underutilization of existing facilities. The planning process includes strategies to maximize the benefits of both new and existing spaces.
Cultural and Recreational Facilities
1	The inclusion of amenities such as a library, museum, and cultural center is valued by some for potentially enriching community life and offering more diverse cultural experiences	Noted
2	Some respondents are enthusiastic about the prospect of enhanced cultural and recreational offerings	Noted
3	The project allows for a range of cultural and community activities	Noted
4	The addition of cultural facilities is seen as a significant benefit for local arts and heritage.	Noted
5	There is strong support for the integration of cultural and recreational spaces within the hub	Noted
6	Some respondents prefer improvements to current facilities over new cultural amenities.	The focus on new amenities is being considered to explore options that better meet the community's evolving needs and provide opportunities that existing structures cannot accommodate.
7	There are concerns that the focus on new cultural spaces might overlook other essential services	The project aims to balance the development of new cultural spaces with the need to support other essential services. Planning includes ensuring that all key services are effectively addressed and integrated to meet the community's overall needs.

8	Questions arise about whether the new cultural facilities will effectively meet community needs	The project has incorporated flexible designs that can adapt to varying levels of use and evolving community needs, ensuring that the facilities can remain relevant and actively utilized over time.
High Costs and Tax Implications
1	A significant number of respondents felt the project is too expensive and a waste of taxpayer money	The project budget is continuously being reviewed to ensure all expenditures align with project goals and provide long-term benefits to the community. The project includes a Preliminary Financial Plan with funding options and is expected to be funded under existing budgets approved in the 2024-2027 multi-year Operating Budget without further impacting taxpayers in the future. Long-term financial planning, including the Asset Management Plan, Development Charges, and a 1% tax allocation for new buildings, ensures no further taxpayer funding is needed for the estimated $53 million cost. The potential sale of the Civic Centre and Library properties, along with sponsorship and naming rights, will be explored during the Detailed Design phase as options to offset capital costs. Transparent financial management and ongoing evaluations will ensure the investment's value is validated.
2	Many respondents noted concerns about the potential for cost overruns and financial mismanagement	Project includes rigorous budget reviews and oversight at all stages. Transparent financial management is in place to ensure the project remains within budget and funds are used effectively.
3	The substantial cost of the project is seen by some as an unnecessary expenditure	The cost of the project is being carefully assessed to ensure it provides value and meets community needs. The goal is to demonstrate that the investment is necessary and beneficial for long-term community growth and improvement.
4	Concerns that the additional space might lead to higher maintenance and operational costs.	The potential for higher maintenance and operational costs due to additional space is being carefully evaluated. These costs are being assessed to ensure they are justified and manageable, balancing the benefits of increased space with efficient long-term operations.
Misalignment with Community Needs
1	Some comments expressed that other community needs or priorities should be addressed before this project	Other community needs and priorities are being considered alongside this project. The goal is to balance immediate concerns with initiatives that support long-term community development and growth.
2	There is a perception that the Community Hub may not align with the most pressing needs of the community	Same as Misalignment with Community Needs note 1
3	Respondents are concerned that the project may divert resources from other important initiatives.	Efforts are being made to ensure that resources are allocated effectively to support both this project and other critical community needs.
Technology
1	Enthusiasm for the inclusion of interactive displays that can provide real-time information and updates about community events.	Noted
2	Positive remarks about enhancing digital connectivity, such as free Wi-Fi, to ensure residents can stay connected while using the Hub.	Noted
3	Support for installing advanced audio-visual equipment to enhance presentations and public meetings.	Noted
4	Interest in a virtual community board that allows residents to post and view announcements and events digitally.	Noted
5	Positive feedback on the use of technology to improve accessibility for people with disabilities, such as voice-activated directories and accessible kiosks	Noted
6	Concerns that technology might reduce face-to-face interactions, impacting the community feel of the Hub	The design aims to integrate technology while preserving and enhancing opportunities for personal connections and community engagement.
7	Concerns that not all residents, particularly older adults, may be comfortable using new technology, creating a barrier to access.	The design will include support and training by staff to ensure all residents can comfortably access and use the new technology.
8	Concerns that the technology could quickly become outdated, requiring frequent and costly upgrades.	The project includes plans for scalable and adaptable technology to minimize future costs and ensure long-term relevance.

9	Doubts about the long-term maintenance and upkeep costs associated with high-tech installations	Strategies are being developed to manage and mitigate these costs, ensuring that the technology remains sustainable and cost-effective over time.
10	Worries about the potential privacy and security risks associated with digital and interactive technologies.	Measures will be implemented to ensure robust protection of personal data and secure use of all technologies.
Project Endorsement
1	Several comments expressed general support for the Community Hub project, highlighting its potential benefits to the community.	Noted
2	Positive feedback was received regarding the architectural plans, with some noting the plans as “wonderful” and aligning with their vision for the project.	Noted
3	There was appreciation for the decision to repurpose the existing Sears building, seen as a cost-effective and resource-efficient choice.	Noted
4	Some respondents noted the long-term value of investing in the project, emphasizing that today's investments could lead to significant future benefits.	Noted
Other Concerns regarding the Project
1	Concerns about “high costs” and whether the financial outlay is justified	The project is undergoing detailed financial analysis to ensure that the investment is justified and delivers meaningful benefits to the community.
2	Questions about the need for new facilities given “existing facilities and vacancies,” suggesting that current resources might be sufficient.	The need for new facilities is being assessed, as the existing buildings do not fully support evolving community needs or provide adequate space for shared programming and multifunctional uses. While the current layout has served as a base for municipal services, it limits flexibility, lacks modern amenities, and restricts capacity for future growth. The proposed redesign aims to address these challenges by optimizing space utilization, enhancing accessibility, and creating adaptable spaces that better serve both municipal operations and public engagement.
3	Concerns about the “effectiveness and relevance” of the Hub, with some questioning its impact on the community	The project team has conducted a comprehensive review that includes community feedback, stakeholder engagement, and benchmarking against best practices, and considered needs and services proposed to be provided through this facility through the preliminary Concept Design process. This process aims to ensure that the Hub delivers meaningful benefits and effectively meets the Municipality and community's needs.
4	A preference for “current facilities” over the proposed changes, with some viewing existing resources as adequate.	The project aims to enhance and complement existing resources by addressing current limitations and providing additional benefits to meet evolving community needs.

Public Library - children's programming, seasonal play activities, picking up children books, picking up video games, movies and books. looking at the fish tank and craft activities, utilizing study space/private booths Museum - Innovation Centre for children (this is great by the way). Chatham museum is lacking compared to Wallaceburg museum. Need more interactive experiences or a tourism draw similar to bigger urban centres. Council meetings don't feel safe downtown. Thirteen years ago when I first moved to Chatham I didn't have any concerns walking at night. The homelessness issue has become very sad & scary. We need to be spending money on affordable housing for people instead of spending money on building spaces that already exist. I don't think the growth of Chatham warrants spending this kind of money on upgrades.

This is a bizarre question. I have not accessed Service Ontario in its present location at the Civic Centre, nor have I had cause to attend meetings at the Civic Centre. Going to the Clvic Centre rates nowhere near as high on my everyday life to do list as going to the library & museum...and I go to the library about 5 times as often over the course of a year as I do to the museum (i believe those stats are reflected overall in the foot traffic experienced by the library if you care to look at their reports). I, and pretty well anyone I know, access Service Ontario ONLINE. We transact our civic business online so having a large Service Ontario hub seems a bit overdone. Looking at the question below - "How important do you feel it is for our community to have a central hub that includes a library, museum, community space and civic centre?" I feel that these are leading questions designed to get answers you want, not the answers you need to make an informed decision regarding a substantial expense that will significantly increase the tax burden on the citizens of Chatham-Kent. The proposed "Community Hub" will not be equally accessible to all citizens in the region considering the significant transportation barriers faced by many.

I did not need to visit the Service Ontario site as I do those services online. This is a weird question As to the question below - we don't NEED to have a central hub with all these things lumped together. It's a "nice to have" and would be great if it were a purpose-built facility rather than what's being proposed.

absolutely nothing- the library is in a wonderful location- moving it to downtown is NOT easy for many people to access- many people stay away from downtown- not easy parking either.. museum as well has a perfect location- nice to bring people away from the congested downtown area- It is in a pefect location as many many people go to the ck museum and them milner house - if you move the museum milner house will get way less people- and many times school tours come to do the museum and milner house and take part in some of the theater or art programs- why take one away when it is all right there- I have been with my children many times for programs in the culture center- everything is right there..

I don't think this is appealing. Not only does it not add additional space, it eradicates the history and memories of other buildings that are being utilized. Additionally, all these organizations provide different supports and missions. The location already doesn't provide ample parking and now we're wanting to add more in this area? Not to mention the homelessness issue and encampments in this area. Will this also raise the taxes of local businesses in the surrounding areas? I would like to continue to support the current local businesses as well. I think if the building were to be bigger and that this wouldn't affect taxpayers, then this would be an entirely different story.

Nothing is appealing, at this unqualified price. The unknowns are 4 times higher than necessary. The city hall and the sears, are the same age. How can the city hall be a wreck and sears, be a gold mine? I fear that city hall wants new offices at any expense and have slanted the facts to support that. Commerce should be downtown, not administration, that will suck tax dollars, instead of increasing them.

I like that the Community Hub will be new. Our infrastructure in these old buildings are deteriorating as I have seen first hand working in the library. There are only so many times a building can be retrofitted and changed but square footage cannot be added to our location. Having our downtown core revitalized is more important than ever. We have the river and surrounding areas that need to be put to better use so people will visit the city.

Anonymous

7/18/2024 01:33 PM

Nothing. This will leave the Municipality with more empty buildings that will not be utilized for anything. This seems like a complete mismanagement of money, property and resources. There has already been too much money spent on the designs and planning. Municipal tax money can 100% be spent on other matters that affect the municipality as a whole. We need not to spend millions of dollars on frivolous things like this, instead money should be spent on bringing more attractions to CK for tourism so we can boost the whole municipalities businesses and economy.

The Modern concept of it will easy access and rejuvenation of the downtown core. After attending the accessibility awards last month it became very apparent that it is highly lacking in access for all with a modern upgraded building it would change that. While the current Civic Centre is in a great location, parking is a issue and it is not as welcoming especially now with service Ontario there. The Museum it hidden as far as I'm concerned and does not highlight the history of Chatham Kent and the importance to played in the early years of Canada. For the Mayor and other officials to showcase Chatham to possible investors it would be nice for them to be tied together and showcased in a modern building. The new hub would midigate the unknowns to modernize the current locations for full infrastructure to ensure they are in place, heating cooling, communications and internet and fully accessible for all.

Who wants to go downtown when it is not safe? It is also shameful that all the small rural towns will be paying for this but not benefit from it. If Chatham Kent had lots of money, then sure it would be a nice luxury to have everything under one roof - for Chatham residents. Does absolutely nothing for anyone who lives outside Chatham. Once again, Chatham is planing on spending OUR money on CHATHAM. Ignoring the rest of the Municipality. I know this will come as a shock for Chatham-Kent councillors and staff - but this municipality is CHATHAM-KENT - not CHATHAM. Try doing what is best for the entire municipality, not just yourselves. Chatham Kent does not have money to waste on this sort of luxury who will benefit no one other than the councillors and municipal staff. Suck it up - you have a perfectly functional building where you are currently located. It is up to date? No. Is it pretty? No. Does it do the job? Yes. You don't need new luxurious offices and a pretty council chamber. Do the few upgrades that are needed to the building and then find a more fair, effective way to spend that money. That benefits the ENTIRE municipality.

Anonymous

I don't find it appealing at all. If some one decides they are upset with someone in any of these departments you are putting more people at risk. And I don't think that Chatham is growing that much to warrant this kind of money being spent. There are other issues that need to be taken care of. If you were concerned with supporting businesses downtown you wouldn't have built up businesses outside the downtown area. Downtown is unsafe. You need to focus on issues to keep everyone safe & housed. Affordable housing I would 100% support, this is what we need, not fancy council chambers. The councilors need to focus on the have nots instead of the rich. You try & live one the streets & see how you feel. I don't even feel safe walking on the streets of Chatham at night. A new building is not going to solve the big problem Chatham & most cities have lack of affordable housing & supports for mental health.

It's a place where the community can come together, located right next to the bus terminal makes it reasonably accessible to most people, it's many things in a single place, adding to interest and accessibility. It may encourage engagement from those who would otherwise have been restricted in the number of outings/community involvement events by separate locations. I LOVE the cultural enrichment of the downtown core, and the potential that creates for attracting complimentary businesses and opportunities. All the architectural renderings are appealing! The problem is that once the budgetary constraints become real the cost overruns unavoidable, the attractive details are ditched and we're left with a soulless box. I've seen it happen with many municipal projects in different municipalities. This one will be especially disappointing because it's a rehab of a truly unattractive building that really should have been blitzed in the first place. However, yes, the new exhibition space for the museum has merit and will give ample latitude for those with vested interest in the larger development to showcase their collection(s). The Service Ontario wicket looks nice and the Council Chamber has some merit as well (although it does not appear to have the capacity to be "shared programming space" as proposed at one point with the fixed seating).

More spacious and combined with all services which leverages the appeal of the site. Open, bright, modern. - double size of library is excellent featuring maker space, green screen, new culture centre. Other buildings are dark, old and dingy in unappealing locations in the downtown. - this will revitalize the old sears building and modernize that component of the downtown. Increased and more usable libraries are crucial to cities.

Taxpayers paid 4.68 times the value of the building when so many other services and infrastructure issue require attention, what will happen to the existing buildings? How can the costs associated be justified? How long before the homeless that are dumped here from other municipalities take this space over too, and ruin it? Stay as things are, or AT LEAST make the previous buildings be sold, turn them into shelters, anything useful BEFORE committing to this. Have the contracts in place. Consultants are NOT needed for this, common sense is.

DO NOT move the civic center downtown- parking is horrible- congested- the library is in a wonderful location- moving it to downtown is NOT easy for many people to access- people have said if it moves to the mall they will not go- many people stay away from downtown- not easy parking either.. museum as well has a perfect location- nice to bring people away from the congested downtown area- It is in a perfect location as many many people go to the ck museum and them milner house - if you move the museum milner house will get way less people- and many times school tours come to do the museum and milner house and take part in some of the theater or art programs- why take one away when it is all right there- I have been with my children many times for programs in the culture center- everything is right there. By moving the museum you are destroying the one great location that schools and children tours can get a one stop program with milner house, CK museum, art programs and theater or stage programs. Any councillor who voted FOR this buying the sears building we will not be voting for next election

In today's ongoing and difficult economy, such expenses are ill-timed and frivolous. Taxpayers are stretched to the limit (inflation, job uncertainty, municipal 5.35% property tax increase and proposed 9% for next year, as well as the many Federal taxes). Staff reductions at City Hall as well as prudent maintenance of the buildings would be a more considerate option.

Anonymous

7/17/2024 11:56 AM

I am disappointed that community consensus does not seem to be taken into consideration when moving forward with this plan. The concept has merit, but CK seems to be unable to other more serious issues in check - taxes, homelessness, lifecycle repairs other than the civic centre - and without public confidence in those areas, there will not be buy-in for this project. I'm not actually opposed to the project, itself, but the manner in which it is coming to pass - with what seems to be no regard for public concerns or actual stakeholder engagement. There is a concerning lack of transparency in the process - whether real or perceived - that is not being addressed by administration.

Anonymous

7/17/2024 11:59 AM

COST - these services and spaces exist already. Surviving right now is hard an most individuals in Chatham-Kent, this projects feels like a "nice to have" not a "need to have" at the moment. Revisit this in 10 years when people have started to recover. Most of the individuals with money will be requiring long-term care, lets keep them safe and housed.

Anonymous

7/17/2024 12:22 PM

the library should remain a standalone building... if it is incorporated into the downtown center, I fear that it will become yet another "profit center"... I think it's good for the community to have a separate library, as an information and entertainment resource center, as well as a temporary refuge for people who need that...

Anonymous

7/17/2024 12:40 PM

I think the present site should stay a commercial site as we do not have enough commercial shopping sites as it is. Leave the civic centre where it is

Anonymous

7/17/2024 12:41 PM

That the majority of the actual community is against this project and council is still not listening. Could this project happen possibly when the city is in better shape? The news outlets are already expressing this being a done deal. I truly believe it this happens, this is going to cause taxes to hike, more people to struggle, an uproar to occur, and maybe people considering to leave the community. I don't think the peoples voices are being heard.

Anonymous

7/17/2024 12:47 PM

I do not like that it will be downtown. As a senior citizen I will not be frequenting the library if it moves into the Sears building. I am concerned about safety as with past experience I've encountered a man swinging a steel pipe and on another occasion my purse was taken off my person. It's just not safe.

Anonymous

7/17/2024 12:52 PM

I don't think a Hub is the answer. If want to access library I prefer it ion the present location. It is accessible. The Civic Center is something I seldom use and I believe the Museum should remain stand alone. I believe each of these buildings should be maintained and care for on a regular schedule. Don't wait to fix something when it is big, catch it when issues are small and manageable. there is no excuse to have left municipal buildings to fall in to disrepair

Anonymous

7/17/2024 12:55 PM

I feel that safety is a concern in the downtown area. Using the mall for walking has demonstrated how the bathrooms in the mall are used as place for the unhoused to wash and clean themselves. Vandalism is a concern, especially with the treatment of the Cenotaph in the last few years. I no longer visit the businesses in the downtown area because I don't feel safe anymore. I feel that this can be addressed by supporting organizations that can provide hygiene help to the unhouse, more security/police presence at all hours of the day. Providing supports during the day within the areas downtown for those that are unhoused to be a contributing component to the community.

Anonymous

7/17/2024 01:16 PM

*Undisclosed full costs while property taxes continue to increase at rates higher than ever before *the idea of a few, not the many *lack of transparency *destruction of the essence/soul of the Carnegie library, Museum, Kiwanis Theatre and replacing it with slick modernized substitutes - not everything that is shiny and brand new is acceptable to all - these spaces are often soulless, energy sucking, harsh, masculine, ultraurban buildings. The identity of a community is linked to its past. Honouring and preserving that past is vital in my opinion. Harrison Hall was a beautiful building of its time that could continue to embue its energy to this day in the downtown core. When I drive through other welcoming, quaint, charming, comfortable small SW Ontario downtowns it is the older well crafted buildings that generate the positive esthetic and vibe for me and many others. We are not little Toronto nor should we try to be. We are an agricultural, mostly rural community, consisting of and surrounded by amazing Southern Canadian ecosystems, waterways and more and we need to stay true to what we are instead of trying to copy larger urban centres. Destroying what little charm is left is a huge mistake. Where are the plans of buildings or renovations that pay homage to our true identity?

I've been advised by a Councillor that the plan for the hub does not include easily accessible handicapped parking, i.e., without walking all the way from the parking garage which is much too far for me. Furthermore, apparently one of the men in charge of the community hub fiasco apparently suggested that handicapped people and seniors could just be dropped off at the so-called hub. That is very offensive and fails miserably at civic support.

Anonymous

7/17/2024 01:35 PM

Parking is not as user friendly as it could be at a different location. Ground level parking and all services on ground level are accessible by all. The downtown is facing a problem with homelessness and trouble populations. Public will shy away from. No room to expand, and there will be a time that this will be an issue, always is. Having a recreation center in the hub would benefit. (Indoor pool/arena/gym). School/daycare center would be an asset. Free parking at all times for all people is vital, downtown core is metered parking/remove this barrier. Note: Calgary Alberta has a public library, YMCA and high school under one roof. One level, parking, common areas, cafe.

I am concerned about the future of the remaining features in the Cultural Centre. It is convenient to have Milner House directly across the street from the existing museum. The Art Gallery gets a lot of shared traffic from the museum and it's too bad that it will not also be relocating. I hope that the existing museum space is made into an extension of the art gallery or some other space of cultural significance to the community.

Potential escalation of costs to the tax base (these things never seem to finish on or under budget!). Current plan is to open in 2027. Let's please not stretch that into a 10 year build (like the Boardwalk) that shuts down traffic for years. Potential walking distance from parking to services for the elderly and those with disabilities. Ensure there are enough designated accessible parking spaces near entrance.

7/17/2024 08:23 PM

The cost. The building itself. It is old and wasn't well built. I have a feeling that you're either going to find too many issues with it and want to tear it down OR you're going to build over top of an unsound structure and let us deal with it a decade from now

That CK even has the audacity to consider building a Community Hub when the village of Wheatley is in shambles

Anonymous

7/17/2024 08:32 PM

First you have a council and administration overpay for a building , not by a little but 5x the value. It really makes me wonder if anyone running this municipality has any sort of education relevant to their paid position. From where I stand it doesn't seem that way at all. The bunch of you let the current civic center crumble by refusing for years to spend any money on needed repairs. You also claim this will help revitalize downtown by moving everything. I'm not sure if you know this but the current civic center is already downtown. Not sure moving people 5 blocks over is going to help anything. I for one am sick of being used as a personal ATM for a bunch of overpaid bureaucrats who can't seem to ever balance a budget. You have hundreds of new builds in the area generating millions of dollars in additional tax revenues but you spend money on stuff that's not needed , yet you want a 9% increase in taxes next year. Enough already, get your house in order before coming to the homeowners for extra money every year.

I think there are better ways to spend the money. Firstly many communities are dealing with flooding because of the lack of adequate infrastructure for their towns. They are spending more money because of increased insurance policies, In the subdivision that I live in there are no sidewalks , problem with area flooding that hasn't been addressed , the road is in need of repair. Money should first be spent on needed repairs for the region the tax payer lives to improve their quality of life. Plus there are so many homeless people needing housing.

There are so many other things Chatham Kent could use with that 2.95 million dollars. For example, in the town of tilbury, there has been an ongoing demolition of a building for the past almost year on Main Street. Nobody understands why the demolition of the middle of the building was approved when now, the attached buildings on either side will collapse if the demo goes any further. And that is only one example in one town that is a part of Chatham-Kent. I'm sure there are many others.

First off there are so many other issues that need to be addressed before something like this. Fixing our flooding issues, water issues. Roodway always need work. Homeless situations. I am very concerned about the library, I do not think it should be moved but rather added onto to make it better. I am concerned about access, parking sucks downtown at the best of times, and if carting items to and from the library, it may be difficult to do. I know this is a done deal already and concerned that council just moved ahead despite what the community wants. Please ensure that the items/space/programming will actually be available at the new site and don't cut corners in the end, the way many large projects do, please don't cut with the new library . I am concerned we spent way over the estimated value of the piece of property that was purchased. That selling or demolishing of the old building will be costly and in the end taxes will go up more than is really necessary.

The expense. Fix and maintain the current buildings. Maintain public facilities and perform the regular maintenance and all building require. Otherwise this new hub will be facing the same issues the Municipality claims the current buildings suffer from due to negligence by councils over the years. Lack of transparency. The Municipality refuses to address their intentions for the existing Cultural Centre. If they have truly performed their due diligence when considering this new hub, they must have some proposals in mind for the Cultural Centre if they consider this move of Museum viable and beneficial to all. Poor attempts at community feedback. Need Q & A sessions with Council and Administration in a forum format. Not this one-on-one format. If the Municipality feels so confident in their plans, then they should be so fearful of facing community they serve. Get the actual questions people have and the answers out to the public to be heard by all and not just carefully curated FAQs by Administration. And these biased surveys that Administration uses to carefully lead people to give answers that, when taken out of context of the rest of their survey answers, makes it appear they support the whole initiative.

The city of Chatham has a long history of making bad decisions for the downtown. Building the first parking garage...only to tear it down before it was paid for. Tearing down the entire 2 blocks from 5th street to 6th street and from 6th street to the market area. The mall was a bad idea. Will the Hub help? Will it become the new "hangout" for homeless and addicted people? Thames Lea and North Maple destroyed the downtown. Will it ever come back? Out of control municipal tax increases will only become more out of control as previously unknown problems with the mall are uncovered. The current city hall should have whatever repairs are needed. The council chambers do not have to be moved to the first floor.

Anonymous

7/18/2024 11:09 AM

I do not believe this is a wise decision. The existing Civic Centre is a very well built building and is the anchor to the downtown core. It should be fixed to current standards and utilized for the existing purpose. The existing work from home policy / culture may change as we see (in the news) happening with other businesses. If this occurs, there would definitely not be enough space in the Sears building on 2nd floor to accomodate a full civic centre staff. What then? I am firmly against this concept and future staff time and money spent should be halted.

7/18/2024 01:10 PM

Parking is inadequate. The public is now only steps from the service counter at the Civic Centre. Civic Centre staff are provided with parking below the building with elevator and stair access to workspace. Parking is available at the Library only steps from the entrance, with a pull-in space for drop-off to return materials. The Museum also enjoys parking in close proximity to its entrance at the CCC. Removing the Museum from the Cultural Hub at the CCC removes it from the easy access that is enjoyed by theatre patrons, or by students in art classes at Studio 2. The layout of Council Chambers pictured at The Hub, is unclear about whether the "horseshoe" remains intact for maximum dialogue. We trust in our representatives to hear each other and work out solutions in the dynamic of dialogue. That is democracy in action. It appears that the public gallery in the proposal is smaller. The scale of the increased space for the Museum is too large for the collection and the staffing that the Museum has now; maintaining that scale of operation is an ongoing cost. The layout of the Library is more linear than Library professionals would design. It is unclear that access is adequate for patrons with accessibility needs. There is no outdoor gathering space like the patio on the river affords the public or staff at the present Civic Centre.

The design concept does not fit the Historic Downtown Chatham look at all. Many business owners have worked, and continue to work hard, to create this look. I doubt someone coming to pay their taxes or learn about bylaws is going to decide to stay another hour to check out a museum exhibit or browse the library. Combining these three institutions has little to no benefit. The project is very expensive, at a time when many are living paycheque to paycheque or struggling to find money for both food and utilities. There is no space for an art gallery. There is no space for a small theatre, suitable for Theatre Kent, Kiwanis, and other community based performance groups. The proposed interior design is concrete-based industrial style, a design trend that's cold, ugly, and already on its way out in design circles. Combining three already downtown based institutions into one location will decrease foot traffic through the downtown area, not increase it as suggested in the presentation.

I don't think it's necessary to put everything in one place. A kitchen and bathroom are both necessary for a house but it doesn't mean I want them both in the same room. I think the budget could be put to better use with a portion of it being used to update / renovate the separate buildings we already have.

Stop it now. Mark my words, it will cost way more at the end of the day than what is budgeted. The Sears building is not that much newer than present City Hall. Chatham Kent has not completed a major project on budget in recent memory, Capital, Bradley Center, Splash Pad to name a few.

The Civic Centre should remain at it's current location and the Community Hub should be built there. It makes no sense that a decision has not been made on the Fire Station yet. Wasted tax payer dollars. Small communities have libraries housed in old buildings. There's no need to move the current library. The museum as well isn't in need of moving. There are larger, more urgent things millions could be used towards. So much space dedicated to civic center office space, that could be used for museum or library programming. More civic center staff work from home or other municipal locations that are underused within the various Chatham-Kent communities. The rendered look of the reception is kind of ugly and does not look like it includes ergonomic desks for staff so they can sit or stand. Not enough children's space in proposed library. need another programming room and space for open play that is separate from the collection area. Also need dedicated room for children's only programming. Library and Museum could coordinate and share the imagination station, both do STEAM programming, and could pool resources for the space. Where are the staff washrooms? Is there a dedicated room/ desk in a high traffic, welcoming public area for the community navigators to meet with patrons and direct them to other services in the building? Will the council chamber be multi-purpose and could the library or museum use it for performers or special events that require a stage, seating and sound equipment? Cafe that is open Monday through Saturday during library hours, that is an actual business not just community living. Part of the proceeds and work could still be done by community living, but it would be an actual cafe, like Crow City or maple city bakery.

1. I'm not particularly taken with design of municipal hub. Front sticks out to sidewalk. Too close to street. Has the look of being too big for property. 2. No landscaping at new Municipal Hub. No shrubs or bushes. 3. We are losing the plaza with clock. 4. Building is too much cement. How about more glass like at Windsor City Hall. I really dont like the design of the Municipal Hub. 5. Could the parking garage be off site? 6. The Council Chambers are very spartan. We have at present very impressive Council Chambers. New chambers would be just a room with chairs. It would be a multi purpose room but we need something more attractive. Because we are losing very impressive Council Chambers. 2.Plaza out front with clock is relimated.

Looking at the image of the Hub (modern) and then the proposed images for revamped mall (historic) and the styles don't blend. The 5th street view of the library with the stained glass windows is okay. Wellington view with that weird angle is going to be dated. King St view is very boxy. White colour is perfect for graffiti unfortunately. Why put a modern building in the middle of a section being promoted as Historic Downtown Chatham? It is a beautiful building girdled by streets. What is missing is what is not there: a 9% tax increase before construction; parking - this massive undertaking will want easy access - from the views highlighted I don't see it; the big box stores north on highway 40 - the ones that deep-sixed the original mall - they are not going away. And a new firehall that will be needed with the sale of the Civic Center, add ten million. What you don't see is the county - your own survey omits the fact that people live in rural areas. I am not from Blenheim, but RR#2 Blenheim, there's a difference. Much of this project is a choice not a necessity - as I understand it there will be no grants from the province because of this. So it's on us; and if the Capitol Fund is depleted how will that affect the county? What is missing is the cost - what is the use of expanding the museum, when today, if the museum wants to open, they must shut down Artspace in order to have the personel to do so?

Unnecessary waste of MY tax dollars on something I will never use. My contribution to tax dollars would be better spent on health care, road management & road safety measures. The cost of renovations for a new space should be used to repair the current space. Where will the Fire department go?

I think it is key to keep the homeless people away. Also it must be light, bright and modern. Clean is obviously a must. I think a city without bookstores and an art museum is intellectual poverty. A new hub must have the ambition to uplift Chatham-Kent and inspire people to read, create and learn. But therefor it has to be a place where you want to be.

Why are we creating a new model when the old one is not broken.
Update spaces to meet current trends and needs allows these space to maintain their independence and integrity combining these spaces thinking it more cost effective will be taking something away like the personality, space size, individualize, inclusive environment and community that these provide. If someone wants to add or create a new space to provide extra services do so but do not ruin what's is already working just do the updates to allow it to run more efficiently and retain it own identity

The amount of money being spent and not put back into the community by supporting local, as I always hear said to everyone else. The money should stay local and the community should have more of a say where it goes and how much they want their taxes to increase to fund someone else's ideas. We would be better off to preserve our history rather than creating a new hub.

Though it doesn't feature in the video, I think it's important to state that the community hub should honour all members of the community, and we would be doing ourselves a disservice if we introduced hostile architecture to make the lives of some community members harder. Spikes, bars and divided benches have no place in a community that values kindness or mutual support.

there is no need for this"hub" - it seems to be a vanity project for some people. The majority of council ignored the wishes & comments of citizens. Our community would be better served by a new arena (and or sports centre) such as the lovely buildings in Leamington, Mooretown Dresden, Tilbury. Our Chatham arenas are an embarrassment and substandard.

Anonymous

7/27/2024 11:40 AM

Anonymous

7/27/2024 12:31 PM

I go to the library often, and I am concerned about parking. The library building is a beautiful facility, inside and out. I believe, quite strongly, that there will be less patrons at the library if it is moved. Many families go to the library on the weekends, and it is always busy. That will not be the case if it is moved downtown. The librarians offer such amazing programs for children, teens, and adults. A lot of this cannot be done online and will not be accessible if this community hub goes forward. I STRONGLY disagree with moving the library.

Anonymous

7/27/2024 12:33 PM

I don't think that as a community we need to spend money on this. I understand the need for upgrades to the library but I don't think we

Anonymous

7/27/2024 12:35 PM

I don't like the proposed location. It seems very backwards to move these important community centres from their historic purpose-built buildings to a former department store in a mall. It does not make sense to me and I don't understand why it is happening, or how much it will cost to retrofit a Sears store to effectively serve all these functions. I can't picture it being a better location than the current buildings. I am also concerned that moving all these centres to one place may also impact parking availability compared to the current situation. (Will parking remain free or do we have to pay to park in the garage?)

Anonymous

7/27/2024 12:37 PM

Costs, the mall has way too many problems to fix and it's with our taxes. There should have been a referendum about this matter but as usual they don't invite the people to vote about it. Sure they had an open meeting but their decision was already made.

Anonymous

I think throwing money at long dead or dying institutions 8n attempt yo make them come alive and vital in a new world is useless. It didnt doe out because it was in an old building or because its system was outdated... It died out because this generation found an alternative way to fill the gap. Throwing more money at an old horse isn't going to make it young and hip again... Maybe its time to let it die out, and instead turn to q 2 fold future plan... 1) use half the money to help what's broken that CAN make a difference - buy a patch of land and tent it up campground style for the homeless to have a outside to sleep like they prefer... And 2, spend the rest brai storming and creating new futuristic versions of the old way... Maybe its a VR museum, or a sensory library with epads. Maybe it moves completely online, eliminating a building altogether. Who knows.... Im not a brain thrust.. I just know wasting money on the old wont make it new again... Its just wasted money.

Anonymous

7/27/2024 12:48 PM

Why abandon the current Civic Centre. It's basically the same age as the DCC. It was built after Harrison Hall was destroyed so as to make way for the DCC. Spend $30 million to renovate the current Civic Centre , rather than 50++ million to transform the DCC into a Hub. The existing Library (a 1967 Centennial project by the way) and the Museum are within a 3 block radius of DCC, certainly within easy walking distance!

Current municipal buildings will become empty. Have plans/buyers in place to generate revenue to offset the cost of the purchase of the Sears building and renovations. I would not like to see municipal buildings sitting empty while tax payer money is being used on the Sears building. Parking is a concern between the Hub project and the other mall project. Do not proceed if parking is not going to be available for all users of what is now the mall and Sears building. I am not convinced there is enough space available to adequately house

I'm concerned about what the plans are to repurpose the current CK library branch and Civic Centre buildings.. I just think the HUB is an opportunity to make downtown more safe, clean, charming, and inviting.. It would be a shame if the Civic Centre and Library branch buildings were repurposed in a way that attracted more of the population struggling with homelessness and drug addictions. Maybe resources for that population could go into the St. Angela Catholic School building once they move into the new Super Schools, since it's close to the hospital.

Anonymous

Anonymous

7/27/2024 01:54 PM

I do not like the idea of moving the library to a less accessible building, away from its historic location, and to an area that is not adding much more library space than what we currently have.

Anonymous

7/27/2024 01:54 PM

What is not appealing is that the municipality will end up spending far more on this 'new' old building than they would have spent if proper renovations had been done to the existing facilities. What is not appealing is how despite the majority of taxpayers in CK not wanting this it was pushed forward anyway in order to appease and protect the investment of the four fools who were stupid enough to buy downtown mall in the first place. Now it appears the decision is final so how do you address it. How about give the library DEDICATED meeting rooms / programming space, like they CURRENTLY have, instead of making it shared space. Give the library MORE sq footage for their COLLECTION instead of LESS which is what is in the current plan. Stop lying to people by saying the library gets more space, when YOU KNOW FULL WELL that this is only because you are counting office and meeting rooms / programming space, which as I pointed out is going to be SHARED.

Anonymous

7/27/2024 02:02 PM

Not sure why we need 1 place that does VERY different things?????? A new community centre stand alone building would be fantastic. An art/museum stand alone would be fantastic and the municipal workers don't need a new building at all! What Chatham really needs is more public washrooms. More indoor pools and indoor courts. More decent long term care facilities.

The waste of money which can be used for infrastructure. If there is a community hub, then it just adds to more travelling to get to it as the need arises, adding cost to the user in vehicle use, fuel, time, etc.

There is no readily available reasonable parking. I cannot walk very far, but parking at library is very good. There isn't a sprig of grass or trees around it. It is a glorified box. Heating and cooling were issues in this building, do you think you can really correct it/ you have never fixed heating and cooling problems in the present building over the last 20 years. It is nothing but an old box fixed up and everything crammed into it. Idiotic to say the least.

WE CANNOT AFFORD IT. It amazes me that anyone with any common sense at all would even consider this at this time. The average person is struggling to pay their mortgages, feed their families. And our council thinks it is a good time to spend an exorbitant amount of money on moving everything to the DCC and completely redoing it and making it pretty? Seriously? Why doesn't city hall focus on important issues and expenditures. There is nothing wrong with the current civic centre. Make the few changes and upgrades that are required - and I stress "required". The building does not require a complete revamping. Sure, it would be nice to have everything pretty and updated - but again WE CANNOT AFFORD IT. Council represents the residents of Chatham Kent. Take a look around the municipality - people don't have enough money to pay rent, they can't afford their mortgages, they can't afford the ridiculous increase in property taxes, they can't afford groceries. PAY ATTENTION! This is not the time to spend money frivolously. Quit spending OUR money on stupid things. Do what is best for the residents of Chatham Kent, not your own egos.

Having too many options in one building would make it rather noisy and busy. One of the reasons I enjoy going to the library is because it's more comfortable than other bustling areas. If each area in the Community Hub would be spread out, that would help minimize crowded hallways and loud noise. The library would need some sound protection as well.

Civic centre space has a lot of office space using up a large portion of the building, despite assertions that this is to be a community hub, not an office building. With a number of Municipal staff having the ability to work from home or from other locations (ex. Park Ave Business Centre), I would like to see the size of space dedicated to the Civic Centre portion reduced. The goal is less admin space, more community space and simply reducing the Civic Centre footprint by < 2,000 sq ft does not make a significant difference. In addition, the current design appears to have a lot of dead space that could be better utilized. I understand some space is good, but there is no need for wide open atriums with no useful purpose aside from aesthetics. For example, the first floor of the current Civic Centre has a large dead space to the left of the service desks that is unused. Similar features should not be included in the redesign. Use the space or lose the space.

Anonymous

7/27/2024 06:46 PM

Tries to do too many things in one space, so it will end up doing none well. There really isn't a need to combine the library and museum with the council chamber and administrative functions, those are completely unrelated uses. Also the loss of the iconic civic centre after only a fraction of it's design life is ridiculous. We should be celebrating Chatham's architecture, not destroying it yet again as we did when the mall was first built. If the municipality wanted to move the library, museum, and art gallery into the space, that would allow those adequate space to properly celebrate CK culture and history, with easy ground floor accessibility.

I find it concerning that new build or retrofit don't build enough space for expansion then we need a bigger building for more people. I don't think the Civic Centre needs to move downtown and be in the same space as the library and museum. There is no value in moving the civic centre down there as the services don't cater to the same audience as the library or museum. Both the museum and library could use more space and if that means moving downtown then that is a good idea. If more space means updating their current spaces then that is also a good idea. But if moving all three to the same space makes each space smaller then there is no need for this.

I'm concerned about adequate space for the library and the museum. My understanding is that these spaces do not have enough room at present. Moving to a space that is smaller and does not allow for adequate storage, meeting spaces, etc does not make sense in my opinion and I would not be supportive of this change. In addition, all of these buildings are in very close proximity to each other already which again does not support the moving of all of them to a location that is in close proximity to where they are now.

Anonymous

7/28/2024 10:16 PM

I don't know how much I like the idea of the library being moved. The current library space is very inviting as is and the tranquility it currently offers might not carry over the best integrated into a shared space. Plus, why is there a need to move such a specialized service from a building that serves it perfectly fine? I think it's an unnecessary move that runs the risk of jeopardizing a lot of the current draw of the library (the space very much makes the service in its case I'd say). What will happen to the old building and lot? I'd personally feel much better knowing there are plans to repurpose the space, preferably ones that propose to keep it open and intact, or at the very least useful to the average ck resident, otherwise, leaving it to be the next abandoned, empty Chatham building or lot would seem like a real shame and an absolute no-go for me when it comes to moving the library. So, I think this should be addressed by having clear communication between those spearheading this project and the residents on all the points touched on above, and serious consideration by those spearheading of the potential detriment to moving the library for those in the community and for the library as a functional and comfortable service in general.

The cost to taxpayers to renovate a decrepit building, leaving 3 other buildings derelict with little chance to sell them. Moving the civic center two blocks is NOT going to solve the problem of homelessness and drug use in the downtown area. The civic centre should have the roof repaired, which should never have been left long enough to destroy the offices. The city was derelict in its responsibility to maintain the roof. Maintain the other buildings rather than let them fall into disrepair!

I simply fail to see what purpose it will serve to consolidate certain local services without also addressing certain public infrastructure questions. You want to create a "community hub"? Invest in walkable, human-scale public spaces. Encourage biking. Create a space that people WANT to be in, THEN fill it with things for them to do.

Anonymous

7/30/2024 02:11 AM

That everything is in one space. Should be spread out. For some all of these things will be too far away rather than one or two of them.

Anonymous

7/30/2024 04:17 AM

Anonymous

7/30/2024 04:40 AM

It is unclear what the tax implications of this initiative are. Our taxes are so high for Chatham that you might make us more house poor at a cost of trying to go all out on a new building. Will that not just drive Chatham locals out? I'd like for council to make it very clear (and send out a letter explaining to all residents) the tax implications of this new building so we can make a decision as to whether the increase in cost of living here makes sense. I also am unclear as to what will happen to the old spaces. Lastly, it would be beneficial to know what the current spaces are used for and whether the envisioned space would be used. It's also unclear how the meeting rooms might be utilized and by whom. I know that sometimes some of our vulnerable community members may go here to meet with support people or legal aid, so would these rooms enable them to have private meetings and would the space support their needs - e.g., ensuring their children could either be close by and watched or also be in the room at the same time? How can we make sure that these spaces are set up to be used by those who need them most?

Anonymous

7/30/2024 05:05 AM

Parking. The old mall parking garage is old and would be shared with people parking at the mall. Additional parking should be in the plan or the acquisition of property for the purpose of building more parking. Will the museum house the Black Mecca exhibit? Or will it remain at the WISH Centre? Moving Building Services to a completely separate building across town seems like a dumb idea. Many contractors have to pull permits and conduct business with Building. It's nice how it is now, a smaller separate entrance. I've been to the Park Ave business centre and it might be worse than the Civic Centre when it comes to accessibility. It's like a maze of departments with random offices off of decrepit hallways.

Having a social hub for community resources would be great, but what about a more holistic viewpoint that includes health services as well? Instead of moving all civic centre employees, could there be an opportunity to incorporate the Community Health Centre? Their free health and wellness

I find most aspects of the proposal to be positive. I do wish that the Civic Center could be repaired and utilized for its intended purpose, as it is a very unique and beautiful building. However I realize monetarily this may not be feasible. I hope there is a plan for the buildings that will be vacated (Library, Civic Center, Museum) when they move to this central location. It seems counter productive to move them, build a nice new location and fix up a new area only to leave the old ones to fall into disrepair. It seems better to have one large vacant building (the mall/Sears) that could be used in the future for another project, rather than several vacant buildings spread out around town. Visually I really like the plan for the building. However I do wonder if the "main entrance" (directly across from the cenotaph) is too modern in appearance. It looks pleasant right now, but I feel it will not stand the test of time the way that historic buildings do. I would suggest a more classical look in this area. Especially since it would compliment the style of the buildings around it in downtown Chatham and their time period. I was very much in favour of using this area to do what they are proposing as well as making a hockey rink (preferably multi ice surfaced). Chatham is the only city that I know of its size in Canada that does not have a respectable arena. Memorial and Erickson Arena is decrepit and dilapidated. Thames Campus Arena is owned by the College. It is also poorly constructed for spectators and does not have a large enough capacity for regular hockey tournaments that most cities host. I understand to build an adequate arena Chatham would need to request financial assistance from the Provincial Government, but this is exactly what we should start petitioning for.

Parking garages unless patrolled vigorously by security or are secured by fences and gates are places where damage and thefts from vehicles as well as assaults occur are much higher than on the main streets. The Sears building is continually being damaged by having its large windows on 5th Street broken and at $2000.00 a window these window areas need to be bricked in. Cameras will not stop the criminals from damaging property as they will wear baseball caps and cover their faces and police response is way behind due to the volume of calls they receive and the lack of police presence available.

My concern is that the Sears building was built on the same principle of planned obsolescence as the Civic Centre. Why "modern" construction only last 40 - 50 years is beyond me, especially when you see churches, former CVS - Thames Theatre, jails and turn of the twentieth century homes still stately and functional. I still maintain destroying Harrison Hall down was a huge municipal mistake.

Anonymous

8/01/2024 06:52 PM

Not appealing

Anonymous

8/01/2024 07:11 PM

There's a lot to consider in whether the old Sears building is the best choice and if it can be repurposed for the proposed uses. Parking is a series issue as six spaces on Wellington St. are inadequate. Second, if parking is allowed in the parking structure, there are serious security and access issues. Many seniors do not want to go downtown at night due to the homeless congregating in the downtown. The same can be said for the multi-level parking lot. As a woman, would you want to be going to your car at night when it's dark and there's no police presence or attendant visible? A visible police presence (foot patrol is needed) outside the Hub, not just inside. Second the Downtown Chatham Centre has multiple windows that have been repeatedly broken by objects thrown through the windows. What is being proposed to deter this from happening again or will the municipal budget include monies for replacement windows as an annual expenditure? We cannot rely on the Community Hub to revitalize the downtown core if people do not want to visit downtown due to lack of parking and safety issues. It's far easier to head north to the Walmart, Starbucks and other eating venues where parking is plentiful and people do not have to worry about safety.

The future is digital and I see less of a need for a brick and mortar library, when you're proposing to double it's size. Some are even just using the library as a "free internet hub". I'd like to see proposed purchases of the existing buildings that are going to be vacated before moving forward.

8/02/2024 03:14 PM

The lack of bathrooms within the library, in particular, within the children's section. Families visiting with small kids need bathrooms that are right there, not outside the library space. Also, the lack of an outdoor book drop off is concerning. Many of our visits are less than five minutes to drop off books and grab books from the hold shelf.

There should be an outdoor book drop off and parking spaces close to the door dedicated for those purposes.

The whole darn thing. We can't afford it. There has been no money spent to maintain City Hall since 1998, which is alarming and incomprehensible. With the storm that resulted in water leaks inside the building, the Fire station located in the same property could have inspected.

Anonymous

Poor timing for such an expense. Delaying any maintenance and repair of the existing Civic Centre for so many years is unbelievable. Instead of abandoning that space, renovate and modernize it. The fire station can be moved to Richmond Street ambulance centre as originally envisioned, leaving space to move the Museum, if that's the highest priority.

I feel that the money should be used to repair and maintain the existing buildings that house these community services. There does not appear to be much available parking at the community hub. There is no need to combine these services into one area. What will happen with all of the remaining buildings if everything is moved to one location? Our downtown does not need more vacant spaces.

Anonymous

8/06/2024 09:14 AM

The fact that we DO NOT need this. Nor can we afford it! Our taxes just keep going up! This is nothing but a deal between the 'rich and shameless' of Chatham-Kent!

Anonymous

8/06/2024 09:21 AM

More a concern - will there be ample parking for staff and visitors to use all the service locations?

Anonymous

8/06/2024 09:32 AM

We need more affordable housing, shopping options, and community activities

Anonymous

8/06/2024 09:34 AM

A few thoughts about services and staff moving to the mall What it the deal? I am highly suspect of the deal being offered. I hear about how the municipality would buy "some" of the mall. This seems very strange and quite frankly, only would benefit the current owners. Even if it was to purchase the entire mall and all land and parking, would it be at a possible inflated rate following the increased property values over the past few years? Again, a great opportunity for the owners, not so great for Chatham-Kent as we are heading into (or are already in) a recession period where property values will likely decline. And... even if they don't decline, we would likely be buying an even older property at a premium price as compared to when they bought it. All of this points to a great deal for the investors and at the expense of the residents. Work from home In 2020/2021, the municipality developed a report about the value gained by having staff work from home. The report, I believe created by Gabriel Clarke, pointed out the cost benefits, the staff satisfaction gains, and a significant number of other benefits. We even went so far as to talk about how great our community would be for remote workers and used it as a resident attraction strategy. This all leads to the point of, our current municipal Civic Centre could be upgraded to take advantage of remote workers. Economic Development Building on the opportunity to improve our existing Civic Centre through a re-imagined workspace, we could integrate our Economic Development and Small Business Centre back into the Civic Centre. Oh, I know this would upset Stuart, but the reality is that there is a huge opportunity to bring closer connections with other departments such as Planning and Building. As well, it would be another cost-saving measure. We are terrible at selling municipal properties A great concern is our inability for the municipality to manage the value of its own properties. Recently there was a vacant municipal lot available for sale in Shrewsbury (I know because I was investigating purchasing it). While I don't know the sale price, I do know it was starting at $10,000 and likely sold for somewhere between 10 and 25k. This property is now listed for $130,000 on MLS by the investor. My point on this is that, if we move from our existing purpose-built buildings (civic centre, library, etc) into the mall space, we would very likely be sell off the assets as a significant loss. It is not a stretch to imagine this being the case as we are constantly doing this. The mall needs extensive work It is no surprise that the mall, including the former Sears location, needs extensive work. Anyone who says that it cheaper to completely overhaul that space, rather than to repair and upgrade our existing buildings, is very likely not telling the entire story. The reality is that if it was easy to modify that space, the current investors would not be so eager to rent/lease/sell to the municipality. It would be interesting to have an independent engineering report come back outlining the work that would need to be done to make that building compliant. The downtown If our goal is to “improve the downtown”, then sadly the argument falls flat when we consider that the Civic Centre, the library, and museum are already part of the downtown area. Yes, we would be bringing them into the same building, but there is no net gain as they are already located within minutes of each other. If the goal is to really elevate and improve the downtown, then we need to add more people to the downtown. This could be accomplished by having more housing (and no, I don’t mean giving in to the demands of [REDACTED] [REDACTED]). Let’s look at the mall as a space for housing development... there was certainly outside developers eager to build in Chatham-Kent. If the current owners don’t feel it would be a viable option for them, then let’s allow them (as investors and business people) to find a developer that would. I would like to point out, that if the investors can’t find someone to convert the building into housing, then it only speaks to the challenges that would exist for turning the space into a municipal space. Summary... and a health hub? The mall has been a challenging building for decades and it certainly is a space which everyone thinks they have “the best solution for it.” The reality is that, it is owned by a group of private investors, who are well known for pushing their influence on the municipality. Do I want them to be successful? Yes. However, I don’t want to burden our future generations of residents with a decision that was made to help some of our wealthiest, become even wealthier. Let them find another buyer... perhaps it could be an excellent provincial health hub which would bring services currently spread out around the city into the downtown – that would be a net gain to the downtown. This is something that the municipality could even advocate for on the behalf of the community and the owners. Let us use the collective resources of our residents today to advocate for solutions that add to our downtown space through housing, health care, or business development.

It will only be nice for residents in the city of Chatham. It has been the trend since amalgamation that improvements to facilities and services have been focussed on Chatham, while outlying communities are neglected. This project -like so many others -will increase the cost of living for rural citizens while we watch our local community services (schools, community centres, libraries etc) suffer. I think the wealth of our considerable tax dollars should be shared more equitably between communities in this municipality.

Our Wheatley library needs more staff to be able to offer some summer camps & activities for teens & younger children & our Tilbury Library which is wonderful & with more funding they could involve more of the community. Young adults in the smaller towns need programs in their own towns to conquer anxiety & lack of self worth. Chatham is not the most important spot on the map. The linear library with terrible sightlines for staff (how on earth will they supervise and help patrons), the barriers to the vulnerable populations currently supported by the Library and the Community Navigators - I anticipate these individuals will be "cleaned up" with the rest of downtown. The library is a core community resource and support for EVERYONE and that seems to be forgotten in this gentrification. The proposed design is unfriendly and built out to the street - completely against principles of modern urban design - creating a monolithic street facade... no green space, no outdoor gathering space. I reiterate my comment made earlier... the renderings paint a far different picture to what the reality will be - all the attractive details will be jettisoned once the project falls into cost overruns. I think this could be best addressed by investing in, and developing the library in its current location and investing the funds needed to revitalize the current Civic Centre, which actually is a unique part of CK's built heritage... this development is a horrible cannibalization of an ugly artifact of all that is bad in urban design. I heard someone say that it should have been blitzed and the land used to create a park in memory of Harrison Hall, which was torn down to make way for the monstrosity in the first place. Or torn down to make way for affordable housing to answer the crisis CK finds itself in.

Explain what is to happen with the former Locations of these places. Explain which programming at the library and cultural centre/museum will be affected and/or canceled, and how the city will remedy that. Will the costs of accessing the museum (art/cultural events) or library (fines) increase? Will the Cultural Centre theatre auditorium be affected? If there is to be a redevelopment of the former civic centre and cultural centre, will it involve housing? Affordable housing?

I don't like that concerns about the library section that have been brought up don't seem to have been addressed. There have been worries that the second floor wouldn't be able to hold the library's collection because of the weight of it and it would be a good step to get a professional who specializes in that knowledge to make sure the second floor is capable of properly holding the books and such since if it can't then the additional space that is a selling point for the library portion isn't as useful as it's being made out to be. Also, the parking seems much worse for the library seeing as how there are still a handful of spaces near the entrance like in the current location, but the secondary parking location is much further away. At the current location there is dozens of extra spots just up the street versus at the mall where it's only the parking garage that will be close. Not to mention it will be on a much busier street and the close spots are on the road, so it will not be as easy to get in and out. There are many library patrons with mobility issues so being able to have close parking is very important so that the people who have mobility issues can still easily and safely utilize the library. Additionally, right now there are quick drop off spot to park in to let you drop off items without having to go into the library, I couldn't see where that would be located in the new design.

The civic centre hours to serve the working tax payers is not allowing many to come and take care of business due to peoples working hours. It could benefit all by having 2 shifts at the counter for bill paying so will be open later. Customer service at most places are open later since people work 9 to 5 or 8 to 4 and depending where you live one half hour to travel to the civic centre and take care of business is very hard if not impossible. You are the onlly business in Chatham that closes at 4:30, this is 2024! What are reserved parking spaces for the civic centre staff when this is supposed to be for the public. Park where you can and why do the staff have to be given reserved parking? Ridiculous.

I find the cursory attempt at community engagement the least appealing and the lack of transparency. This is going to end up costing a bundle and it seems as though Administration and the Mayor are taking a short-sighted view on this. It will be regretted in 10-15 years time. You say you are "exploring the concept" but it seems fairly far-ahead for exploration and with the announcement of 100 King Street, it appears the Municipality is on the hook to anchor a private residential/retail development. Of course the business community has done a lot for downtown Chatham, but it should not be entwined to this extent! How should this be addressed? Take a hard look at the budgets and true costs (how much is it going to cost to replace the roof in 10 years time?). This also feels like an imposition - who is driving this? Certainly as a Library member and user, I have only seen one survey coming from CKPL soliciting my opinion and nothing from the museum. There have been no real attempts to elicit excitement and anticipation from the populations that will actually be affected by this development other than the "Let's Talk CK" surveys and they are distancing. Where have the focus groups and consultation workshops been? This has been all downtown downtown but very little about the people. I believe the mayor is on record someplace as saying that no one is going to get what they want but it's good for Chatham... which is utter bunkum.

The exterior seems a standard design for a very contemporary big city environment. No effort is made to harmonize with the surrounding historical architecture. None of the exterior features and major forms of nearby buildings are adequately referenced. Instead we see sharp lines ,diagonals irreconcilable with nearby horizontals and verticals.,and attenuated pillars.Textures lack any human sense of contact.The whole effect is that of being out of place, creating a jarring contrast with its environment,and a total lack of sensitivity. No effort to provide something original and at the same time balance the contemporary with the past, and capable of anchoring the centre of downtown, seems to have been attempted.

Mandatory Question (1082 response(s))

Question type: Essay Question

Q8 | What types of programming or events would you like to see hosted at the proposed Community Hub?

Anonymous

7/17/2024 10:13 AM

Basic services is fine as part of community hub or separate - library, council chambers, municipality desk services. A small art corner of a few hundred square feet could be interesting for the community, but I don't see demand/use for a complete art gallery (and my kids all enjoy art). Regarding bookable rooms, there have been a number of co-working spaces (Ground Floor, SOAR, etc.) tried in the past and there is very little demand in Chatham-Kent.

How about a celebration of Canada like they used to have. How about not being afraid to be in the downtown area for fear of being attacked stabbed confronted by people high drunk or soliciting for money food I believe the food of choice was oysters! How about sheltering our children from indecent exposure sex acts in our park needles which is an access point to the "Hub"

Sports. Chatham has many strong youth sports programs. Indoor sports including hockey would encourage investment and population growth. We need something better than memorial arena. A new library, museum and community gathering place will not bring new people to live in Chatham-Kent

The level of primary schools is very, very low in Chatham Kent. Many kids can't spell or read books. On the other hand parents like to put their kids in time consuming programs, but they are usually focussed on sports. How about creating fun programs for kids (that evolves a bit more then just coloring) and make a connection with local schools. As for myself I would be interested in a book club (no Harry Potter, self help books etc) Perhaps it would be fun to get music lessons in the hub. Usually you get inspired by seeing other people doing something fun. Good coffee

I don't expect any programming at it for public events. Let the library do their own. they are good at it. I don't know when the museum did any public programming. A municipal building should be doing the work that is the responsibility of municipalities. Hace the space your staff need to do their job. community programming is not your

I would like to see tours, scheduled group activities for all ages and all interests, info sessions or presentations on topics that our community may need assistance with. Info sessions could include introduction to taxes, buying or renting a house, help with budgeting, resumes, info sessions about colleges or high school, career path exploration, how to study efficiently, presentations on Chatham Kent's historical sites or figures, introduction to cursive writing, etc. What our town really needs is a place that brings everyone together with zero judgement and equal learning opportunities. Expanded permanent exhibits of local history and art in addition to hosting traveling exhibits and special exhibitions. Extended library and museum open hours especially evening and weekend. Transit stops moved from Wellington to King at the front of the building for vastly improved access. Language classes - French and English plus newcomer and Indigenous languages and cultures. Expanded public access computers / remote learning facilities, with guidance available. Meeting rooms bookable for free (within reason) for community groups. Adequate trained staff to make sure everyone is welcome, and that people experiencing mental health issues are guided towards support rather than being allowed to harass other users. Strictly non-commercial, a public safe space where it's okay to be without spending money that brings people downtown but is absolutely not competing with downtown businesses. There are several suggestions below, including makerspace, cafe, gaming room, coworking, etc that would be using tax dollars to attack small businesses and jobs that people have worked hard to set up in Chatham. For example, a makerspace is about to be opened by a group of local crafters.

Seniors, youth, lgbtq+, mental health and health care, childcare, medical clinics are all services that I'd like to see at the proposed Community Hub. Nothing. It shouldn't be built and 99% of CK residents will never use it. However, given how many homeless and drug addicts hangout downtown, this will be a nice place for them to shoot-up 24/7, poop on the sidewalks and scream obscenities at the public.

I don't really have an opinion on this. The library and museum have their current programming. I've never understood why the Black Mecca museum wasn't at the culture centre but who owns the collection is beyond me.

As much and as varied of everything as possible, as long as it's appropriate and ethical. I would like to see financial considerations given to those in deep poverty or groups providing support/opportunities to same. Class exclusion is reaching all time highs. There are tons of ways in which funds can be generated to support whatever the Hub comes to offer (produce markets, antique shows, seminars, virtual training, cultural attractions, culinary attractions, wow it's all exciting), ways which create cohesive bonds among neighbours, young and old, poor and not, car or no car, newcomer and multigenerational families alike. (Ohh! A few outdoor concrete chess boards would be magnificent.)

Anonymous

7/30/2024 07:16 AM

Again, I do not want or feel the need for this hub

As I am unfamiliar with the layout and exact use of space I am unable to provide and answer. Not living in Chatham this isn't a space I would frequent. However if modelled after a similar space in London a free walking track would bring people in especially in hotter or winter weather.

Children's programming like that offered through CK Recreation (ie

I'm not good of thinking of things fast. - info on different cultures including a display of that talent or custom of that culture. Maybe a bit short...can't be too long or people may not come....As an example, about our local Native populations, some words about the people and their history, their customs and traditions and then a native dance or native drumming....something like that....maybe 40min long???? I'm especially thinking of other cultures and peoples who are moving into CK....muslim, etc - community classes on informational and entertaining where speakers/leaders demonstrate topics like how to wrap gifts more festively and appealingly, how to make your own decorations, easy-ish things to make for gift-giving. Would not be hands-on and we'd leave with a page with a list of supplies to buy and directions about how to make what we saw there - I wish I had more thoughts

A farmer's market that is open year round, in doors, as there are no food stores in the downtown any more. This would encourage more people to live in the downtown. More people encourage more business. More use of your new facilities. First thought, you have to move the druggies and homeless out. No one's going to make use of your new facilities, or move to the downtown untill those folks are relocated.

How about trying to advertise our Capitol Theatre as something people want to go to. How about Tecumseh park that people would want to go to. Other communities treat the library like the hub of a community often with vibrant community and family events. Our library tries, but I have spoken to out of towners (one was an RN nurse and one was a teacher) who have said when they have visited our community for potential relocation, our Chatham library fell short. These are not overly large or rich communities - look up Uxbridge, Ontario for example. They are open on Sundays and have a lot of children's programming.

Community celebrations, such as lift off for United Way or Children's Treatment Centre campaigns would be a great fit, community suppers, seasonal events such as The Gift, Tampon Tuesday, tournaments etc. If we have it, then we must make the most of it in inventive and welcoming ways. Family film nights during the winter... CrowFest, Famers' markets and so on ...

Perhaps recreation could do something downtown once in a while. If the library and museum bigger maybe they could hve more events but they likely won't have the budgets for that. Could be opportunities to let other organizations use the outdoor space for events etc.

Why are you asking this question? Has a decision already been made about this project? Let's focus on present buildings Just read #7. I think a few more options could be added! Should there not be questions about renovating present buildings as well, to accommodate artists, artisans and cultural organizations, and potentially other community groups as well. Come on! If you want to get a clearer picture of what CK wants you need to include options around renovating present buildings too. This survey is so one-sided. How very disappointing!

Community celebrations, such as lift off for United Way or Children's Treatment Centre campaigns would be a great fit, community suppers, seasonal events such as The Gift, Tampon Tuesday, tournaments etc. If we have it, then we must make the most of it in inventive and welcoming ways. Bookable rooms are excellent for birthday parties, special occasions and family gatherings. There is a lack of clean/modern space currently in Chatham for this. - music practice rooms where you can plug in your guitar, play keyboard/drums for those in creative arts. - more private pod or booth spaces for studying or quiet time - Need a nice cafe and indigo type atmosphere.

So many celebrations and gatherings could take place here - farmers and artisans' markets... it will probably become a stop for RetroFest and CrowFest... we need things that will bring people to the area, just having a facility is not enough, and lumping everything together won't do it either.

There could be places for the public to gather for performances, meetings, to sit and relax, eat, drink, and enjoy the interior traffic. Because of our cold winters there could be space, quite large for an interior park, fountains and garden as part of any food concession, and to accommodate passing traffic. To allow patrons to keep track of time a (real) bell carillon, such as at one time in the downtown Sarnia mall would be a "vibrant" feature.

Anonymous

8/07/2024 11:29 PM

I strongly support the idea of these places to be open to the public

Mandatory Question (165 response(s))

Question type: Essay Question

Q11 | The proposed Community Hub would see all existing municipal customer service functions and ServiceOntario services offered in the new location. Are there any customer service functions or features that you would like to see changed or added to the proposed Community Hub plan?

Anonymous

7/17/2024 10:13 AM

I rarely need to use Service Ontario (most items are online now). It doesn't matter to me if it is in its own location or part of the community hub. My preference would be to have Service Ontario out of the downtown area (too much traffic in downtown already).

Museum / Art gallery - smaller Library - does it really need to move?
We find existing building adequate (and use it frequently), and library use is in decline since many years, with no signs of that trend changing. We don't find much use for (or see people using) digital resources / study spaces / multimedia at the library. Municipal offices - keep them simple, functional Overall project - keep it simple, make it look good but don't go crazy with architecture

You're trying to add these services with other organizations that cater to children, elderly, homelessness, and other demographics under one umbrella. I don't understand how this is going to work or make anyone feel more safe. This is something that needs to be considered in the equation if this proceeds to happen. Most service ontario services can also be done online as well. All these services are also simply benefiting Chatham and not surrounding communities.

I think the third office in the Customer Service area is too far from the Service Ontario wickets. Assuming one of these offices is for the Service Ontario Supervisor I think the office needs to be moved around the corner so the Supervisor is closer to the Service Ontario staff. They will be able to better assist if a customer gets out of hand or diffuse a situation before it even happens because they can see/hear what's going on at those wickets. Swapping the third office with the Business Centre would make more sense. Are the break out rooms intended to be used for municipal staff to meet with a customer like the current table in the atrium is used for now?

Do not remove these customer service things from the small surrounding towns. How will seniors get to Chatham to use Service Ontario? What happens when I would like to go to the library? Will a bus be provided to get people there? Leave things as they are. Don't take away from the small towns with a new big library and museum and make these residents pay for things that the city of Chatham will benefit from. This survey is very slanted. It looks like this is a done deal and it doesn't give people the opportunity to voice their opinions. Should have taken longer to make a decision and let all residents from all areas of C-K be in on a very important decision. DO NOT go spending taxpayers money. Our taxes are already high enough! Fix the Civic Centre and forget about the Sears building makes a lot of sense to most of the Chatham and area population.

You can place all service Canada and Ontario services together with municipal services in one hub this will allow all legal , civil and residential services to be easily accessible to everyone as far as the rest this project is a waste of taxpayers money provide needed resources for our community such as a youth centre to teach them life skills keep them off the streets provide them with programs that are easily accessible we have the wish centre there are much needed services for the at risk youth in Chatham Kent that are the fallout from abuse drug use that need essential services that the average person cannot afford or they are not in existence why are we focusing on a fancy downtown core when we lack affordable housing that is properly managed and maintained, drug rates increasing in youth we need to focus on the youth not the retired to make our community vibrant it takes a village to clean up our community!

Yes: Do not conflate these administrative services with the library, museum and art space. There are two complete different use cases - going to apply for a building permit is not the same trip as taking my kids to the museum. Keep municipal customer service, ServiceOntario, etc at the existing civic centre. It is not clear in this plan what the future of the Kiwanis theatre and studios would be... in my opinion those should also be retained, as they and the Capitol Theatre are fit of purpose, and the existing galley/museum space uses to expand the facilities for music, dance, drama, filmmaking, etc.

Since there are already plenty of public owned spaces in Chatham and across Chatham-Kent that have better parking / access, I like to see the space used for something more productive, perhaps a private venture that will draw more people downtown, provide jobs, and pay taxes to help ease the current tax burden on existing businesses and citizens.

Organizations would need to take the lead on encouraging use of public spaces. They would need to be notified and engaged to promote use of space. The open spaces near the circulation desk at the library also encourages interaction. The existing library also has a room that is a nice size for a public reading, recitation, or lecture. Ensure that you have designated space for museum and library to provide programs then you will have community interaction and engaging programs. In terms of civic engagement ensure that council chambers can be configured for civic participation. And then offer opportunities for the public to provide input = civic engagement.

Anonymous

7/22/2024 12:40 PM

I wouldn't. I think it's going to be too busy and too urban for what Chatham is. I feel it's trying to turn Chatham into a bigger urban center than it is and undermines our rural heritage and historical assets. I very much worry about parking. I also worry about the kinds of people that hang out in and around the Downtown Chatham Center. The homelessness problem downtown has gotten out of hand, and in general, I no longer visit downtown businesses the way I did ten years ago.

Community inclusion for all ensures that those who are more well-off and those who have little all benefit in the provision of services and amenities, so to make this possible so that those who are less accepting of this belief, it may be important to have separation of areas for certain activities, events or common spaces that are suited or geared to age- appropriate and age- specific. - it will also be important to have shared common spaces, have charging stations in some areas, and also quiet spaces in others. Child-toddler focused areas, like the play areas often seen at malls in the USA.

I would have preferred a new shopping mall with stores and a food court as we had in the past and what they have in other cities. Chatham no longer has anywhere appealing for shopping or eating. There is very little in Chatham these days that would encourage me to drive there. The last store Northern Reflections that had any quality clothing is also now closed. The William St. Café where we frequently had lunch is also closed. I find going to Chatham in recent years a discouraging experience.

I'm concerned putting all the service Canada services in this building will possibly make it unsafe. As we have an increase in new people to chatham I have experienced these hubs in larger cities and it becomes complete mayhem when there are government services. - Create informal seating areas with comfortable furniture where people can gather and converse. This could include lounges, picnic-style tables, or café seating. - I might participate in community meetings or civic activities to stay informed and involved in local issues. - Include a section where local community events, resources, and support services are prominently displayed. This could help residents connect with additional services beyond the primary functions of the hub.

We also love all the service provided by our library and dedicated staff there - looking forward to continuing to actively participate in this in a new space with more opportunities. When we lived in London, their downtown Central Library hosted amazing Literacy Day events that took full advantage of the performance spaces and shared community areas - I could see this as a possibility in the new space being proposed.

Perhaps have several scooters on hand, the way the grocery stores do, so the aged and PWD who are unable to acquire one for themselves can use one to enjoy the community hub. This not only offers them inclusion, but increases inter-cohort interaction which can contribute greatly to social cohesion. Maybe short term child care for single mothers without social support queueing for service ontario stuff, or things of a similar nature and duration. (1 hour max, or so) This is a great volunteer opp for secondary students to work with trained professionals, and/or to employ OW/ODSP or other disenfranchised person with appropriate ability levels (enriches resume, re-establishes productive habits, fortifies confidence, financially benefits all involved)

Advertise the features of the facility! I find this to be the case with the Chatham Public Library in the way that they have copious amounts of resources that the public is unaware of. I will often tell someone in the community of a feature at the library and they are astounded they are able to access it there. Most think of it as only books. In this same vein, if the Community Hub has terrific features like the ones listed above but the citizens are not aware of them they will not be utilized. The hours soft operation should be adequate for those who work regular 9am-5pm shifts as well.

I feel that this is being imposed upon the citizens of Chatham-Kent and there is no excitement or real anticipation for a wonderful community resource. It truly feels like a means to an end not to the benefit of the families and people who make this lovely part of Ontario their home. I would like to use it as a comfortable place to get my books, read and meet friends and neighbours for a discussion or a chance to take in something interesting at the museum. Since it is a "hub", a design that has a central courtyard with greenery and benches for sitting and reading etc, with each area having an entrance from the central hub and branching out like the spokes of a wheel. This encourages interaction and dialogue as the central courtyard becomes a space where you meet people coming and going and provides an opportunity to talk about what you have seen/participated in etc, A great spot for a cafe with tables in courtyard etc, and a perfect spot to advertise upcoming events etc. I'm a grandparent and I love to take my grandchildren to new places to have fun and learn new things. It should be a "happening" spot

Deal with the homeless crisis in your downtown, what family is going to want to visit this community hub if they have to see the horrible conditions the homeless and addicted population is living in. Perhaps you might want to reallocate money towards that, before creating a communit hub in the centre of it.

walmart- the lovely ladies and mens shop most people can not afford- and there is basically no childrens or teens stores in chatham. or bring in some wonderful activities for everyone to do- like a roller rink- they are huge right now- or a wonderful indoor mini golf that all ages can do

Please find a way to address the issues of transparency and community confidence. I don't think that this project is bad, I think there are aspects that will be useful, but you are not sufficiently addressing the real concerns of citizens in CK. Affordability and cost of living is such a huge issue here right now, and with taxes increasing, the optics of this - despite serious public reservations - are not good. A fulsome tax plan that shows we can have this hub, are making strides to address housing insecurity, and curb tax increases would go a long way to restoring public confidence.

Anonymous

7/17/2024 11:59 AM

We can't afford it, lets focus on the existing crises in our community before creating more financial hardship.

Anonymous

I find this survey very leading - or is it misleading? It seems as if it is a done deal, when it has not yet been approved by Council. I think many community members are upset about this and the skyrocketing costs associated with this. I believe the Mayor's excitement over this is overshadowing the costs and making people think that a back room deal has taken place.

My family and I are genuinely concerned about this project and the cost involved. Since the pandemic, our taxes have increased significantly (300 a year) and it's only going to continue to increase. For a middle class income, we're starting to worry whether we can continue to live here if this continues and our own community has little to no growth but others do. It is obvious, he does not have the communities best interest in mind. Mr Myers will be assuming ownership of the current city hall only to turn around and lease it out to the hospital. As a tax paying citizen, who's taxes are set to rise, yet again, I ask that council finally think about all costs associated with this misadventure and do what is right for the Municipality they were elected to represent.

Will the second floor be all hot desks or a mixture of assigned desks and hot desks? I feel that Directors and Managers who I assume will have assigned offices would like to have their AAs close by. It would be unmanageable for an AA to take home or store all of their work nightly to move desks each day. I understand the public outcry at the cost of this project, but municipal staff deserve a safe and healthy environment to work in too. I'm sure it would cost a lot more money to fix up Civic and house staff at a different location during that time. We would also still have the issue with the Library and Cultural Centre not having enough space and would still be dealing with those older money eating buildings.

This is a lot of money for the taxpayers of Chatham-Kent to pay. Your questions in this survey are loaded, and do not necessarily reflect the members of Chatham-Kent. The library needs a few parking spots for dropping off books (five Minute short term parking) close to the building. There seemed to be many hallways which might make it a nightmare to provide security and safety for staff and the public. Environmentally you will be spending more money so put on a "Green Roof" in your construction design.

If memory serves, the present municipal building was built at a higher cost because it was said future expansion was easily done since the building was built to add something like 4 more floors. Since the roof is shot why not build up and apply the new roof cost to the upward expansion and end up with more space and a new roof...has to be a cost savings in that! I do not think we need to get into the room / facility rental business when there are private facilites available and struggling to survive..use what we have. Would the entity that let the roof get so bad on the present building be the same on the new building? our reserve funds could have been used to fix it instead of moving a baseball field which is fine where it is.

I don't think this was the best option. But I guess what is done is done. Having everything all together in one space, means easily accessible for those without transportation, but it does limit someone getting to know the city because things are dispersed. Downtowns in almost every city are awful places and closing for everything but addictions and mental health, homeless, and thinking that moving all these amenities is not likely to change this. It will just be an unsafe location for families to visit.

Anonymous

I think it is an enormous amount of money to get this done and will in all probability go over budget. There are things in smaller towns that need to be addressed such as the building in Tilbury that is half torn down and is an eyesore for our town. I just can't figure out why engineers can come up with a solution, plus all the residents of that building are in limbo.

The Municipality has shown that even when the funds for building maintenance are sitting in reserves (from taxes already collected from the public over the years), they do not have have the courage to do the right thing and release those funds and be a good steward of the public buildings entrusted to them by the public. They will likely do the same thing with this new Community Hub after it is built. Show us you have the courage to make the hard and unpopular decisions that need to be made to support the community. Save money, work with the existing build infrastructure that you already know, and drop this Community Hub project. If taxes were low and people were not living pay cheque to pay cheque, then maybe we could build new shiny projects.

It is a natural fit for visitors to the Kiwanis Theatre and the Thames Art Gallery, to include a visit to the Museum. The CCC is an attractive destination, across from Tecumseh Park, with easy parking. The heart of downtown is less accessible for parking, or for desirability in comparison to a park-like setting.

Chatham Kent has many communities. When considering to spend millions of tax payers dollars on a project, the entire Municipality should be considered. This project does nothing for the Municipality and very little for the city of Chatham. It will leave many building empty which will eventually cost potentially millions more to destroy and remove the existing buildings. These costs have not been included in the allocation of funds for this project. Return the property. If repairs are essential with the existing buildings, then we can address that as building maintenance which that money can be spread out over a period of time.

Everything Chatham does any more feels like it's about optics. I don't like the word virtue signaling, but things like the pretty bike racks outside the library feel like they combine a real need with something that makes Chatham look progressive. This doesn't inherently undermine the conservative values of the area, but when there's not clear communication about where the money to indulge in the aesthetic of these projects come from, it certainly makes certain populations feel concern about their tax dollars. The people born and raised in Chatham value it as a small town, and the urban sprawl, the increased traffic, the residents who migrated here from Toronto during the pandemic, and changes like what you're attempting to do to the downtown feel like the town no longer has any regard for those of us who used to love Chatham, who were born and raised here.

Anonymous

7/22/2024 06:05 PM

I do feel strongly that where the current library is is best for ease of going in and out without too much traffic hassle. In the proposed move, I think it will be more of a hassle for going in and out to pick up holds. My original understanding was that this would be a hub AND a mall, to bring people in to shop while being in for something anyway. Quite disappointed that it's just another work place without a mall.

Sounds like this hub will have all the bells and whistles. Also sounds very expensive. I cannot support such a dream as our communities cannot afford this. I'm also sure this is a done deal so public input is just for show, to make people feel like they have a say. Moving out of ck is looking like a more viable option as I hear more about outlandish spending by our "leaders"

The city core is not pleasant to visit. There are too many panhandlers and drug users. We have lived here for only 7 years. The city core has changed drastically during this period. We avoid it. We no longer shop there, we no longer go to restaurants there, and we can't bank there now.

This may benefit the central community of Chatham, & MAYBE families with young children from outside of the city, but as a retired Senior, I would not utilize this "Hub". I use my own community's Library, I have no reason to visit the Civic Center, & I've been to the Museum maybe twice in all my 69 years. How would this "Hub" benefit me in any way?

I think the proposal is not going to include enough parking and multiple services will impact the ease of use for the rest of the downtown. Traffic congestion will be an issue. Why can't we reduce services and costs for this site? Who will oversee overspending? We have many people employed by the city that do not have Chatham-Kent interests as a main concern. Where do the people live who make the decisions?

Anonymous

7/27/2024 11:24 AM

I think it's really short sighted that our community is missing the mark so bad on the original pitch for this with a new arena. We have some highly intelligent people in this community that know it would have reinvigorated the downtown (which is always propped up bigger than it is), and instead the intelligent people are outnumbered by people who have no clue how business works. Huge events downtown would increase foot traffic and revenue for everyone operating down there. Instead, we succumb to the dinosaur CK logic of just having a new building for Municipality workers and older people complaining about "tax dollars". Every year I go to minor Hockey and watch our buildings falling apart. Every year I see concerts that would come here if we have a building to support this. We are so far behind the mark it's insane.

Anonymous

7/27/2024 11:27 AM

My main fear is that the expense of the Community Hub will be used to justify the closure or diminishment of facilities in the municipality's smaller communities. The municipal government has repeatedly proposed such closures (the Merlin library has been on the chopping block multiple times and now there's talk of forcing it to share space in the fire hall) and I cannot in good faith support a large-scale development in Chatham if it jeopardizes access to services in smaller towns. In Merlin, we have many seniors with limited mobility and travel options, and removing the library in town would essentially remove their access to any library services. The proposed hub looks beautiful in the video, but an improvement at the expense of already underserved communities is not a tolerable proposition (and I say that as a young person who is more economically and physically advantaged than many of my elderly neighbours).

Anonymous

Anonymous

I think our needs are met with the current facilities, EXCEPT for our museum - it has always been a disappointment for many years. The Milner House is great. I mean the museum. We have wonderful area artifacts that cannot be displayed due to lack of space and lack of will. Travelling exhibits are ok - but we need a proper Museum to save and promote of local rich history. For YEARS citizens have been told not to donate artifacts because there is no storage space. This a horrible! There should be a proper FOCUS on preserving and displaying local history. The play place is a waste of precious space.

Anonymous

7/27/2024 12:48 PM

Give it up! Rehabilitate the existing Civic Centre, consolidate the services there; leave the Library where it currently is (only 3 blocks away); leave the museum where it is (only 5 blocks away. Instead of wasting 50 + million on the DCC, use some of that money to offer incentives for private enterprise to fill that space in DCC/downtown Chatham.

First of all - I'm really proud of CK for working on this project and I can't wait to see the result! - I'd prefer to see a local coffee shop and food options inside instead of a franchise like Tim Hortons. Maybe the city could include a business program that encourages people to start new small businesses within the HUB! They could apply to the program, get funding, and have 1-1 business coaching throughout the program to help start and run their business! :) - In reference to the issue of repurposing the current Civic Centre and Library branch, perhaps instead we can do something like the Kellogs Building in London??? A hub with indoor recreational facilities with different separate sections geared towards young adults / adults and children!! OR MAYBE!!!! One building could be converted to international student housing for the college with study rooms on the main floor, or rental condos like the new ones on Park Ave.

This is a bone-headed plan. I do not hear anything about fire department that would have to relocate somewhere. I know that you have not spent any money in a VERY long time on needs at present civic center? Politicians only have their eye on the next election. and the desire to keep taxes down'They seem to think that all staff are twiddling their th8mbs, and they could do without a lot of them. They do not understand that staff are there to carry out the legislative responsibilities of the job description. they are there to protect council and the taxpayers against future lawsuits if the legislative requirements are not follwed, Just remember Walkerton. and continually cutting back on people, maintenance. {f yo u were just moving city hall here, I could agree to it, even the museum, I guess, because i can't go to it. The library should not be moved' It is functioning reasonably well. Letting the parking garage go, although I know it needed repairs, was also not one of your finer decisions. NOw, no staff parking, no public parking, unless everyone is prepared to pay someone else. If you insist on going ahead, try and get creative with parking. I bet you can;t. OH GOOD I just looked below, and I see we can go park somewhere else and wait a half hour for a bus, and then pay for my bus ride, after we pay our parking lot fare. This adds to my thought about this bareheaded idea. Have you counted the number of on-street parking spaces? Will they be 10 minute parking, when it takes 15 or 20 minutes to get through the Service Ontario line, and then you have to go out and take your licence plates off to turn in, or something else, rg' go back and get odometer reading. Parking alone adds to the boneheaded plan.

We will be at the mercy of future owners of the mall re parking and accessibility. Rob Myers has done a lot for the municipality but this is not to our benefit. We need to cut our losses and get rid of the Sears building while we still can. The present library, museum & civic centre are far more accessible than Sears will ever be.

Stop trying to move the civic centre. I have been to multiple community meetings, and the reaction is the same: There is considerable opposition to this and no meaningful support, so continuing to push it just shows disrespect for the community and democracy. Yes, the existing building has a maintenance backlog despite being modern and relatively new - but whose fault is that and how can the public trust that the same poor excuses won't be recycled to scrap the new facility in another 20-30 years? The municipality needs to keep things in a state of good repair, always.

City |Council has lost perspective on the tax situation of its residents. To propose this type of expense (along with the new sports complex on the Bearline) without increasing the industrial tax base in inexcusable. Our residential taxes are already very high due to the infrastructure of bridges, culverts, drains and roads we have to maintain. I fear that adding more to the taxes, will drive people away from settling here. This community hub project should be shelved!

Some of the proposed ideas in the proposed community's hub and museum strike me as something that other organizations should/could provide, such as the co-work space for entrepreneurs. Why not get a company in to provide something like that or see if you can partner with a college or university to support this? Ask Ivey Business school for example. They just build a huge entrepreneurship hub and would likely be able to support or put in a grant to have something smaller built in Chatham. Once you start adding in these additional features, I wonder what the staffing costs will be though... Similarly, will there not be a cafe or food service provided in the revised downtown plans, so is that now just redundant? I get why there is one in the current library because it is separate from other things... I also did not select some of the things above because I wasn't sure what the need was for it... such as the Green Room idea. Is the idea that if we build it they will come? I'm just worried that we will build this space and no one will use it.

Anonymous

7/30/2024 06:45 AM

Just make sure that it can benefit everyone, whether they exist in extreme austerity or can afford pricey seminars. The more access the disenfranchised have, the more they grow, the more they participate, the more independent may be able to become. That creates a greater sense of social and personal investment in the target population towards the community. Being valued and supported in a real, progressive way changes a person in profound ways.

Anonymous

If the intention for this HUB is to bring people downtown to this HUB only, then this proposal is self fulfilling and ignores the plight of downtown merchants already there who are struggling to stay afloat. This needs to incorporate and support the already existing businesses .

Visits to the library, and the civic centre for that matter, are often marred by the activities and behaviour of those loitering or simply squatting about. The fact that the library requires security personnel on site speaks for itself.

It's not important to me that all three are in one location. If there are 'cost saving' please show me the savings? Will staff be laid off? I don't see how 'increased foot traffic supports local businesses' and 'generates tourism dollars'. 'The Hub will free up land for other community needs'. What are these needs? The rational needs to be written so the average person can understand.

I thought the community hub was a waste of money before I took this survey, but now after seeing what kinds of things are being considered (a multimedia room for video capture and editing !!!!!???? a dedicated maker space for exploring and creating with hands-on tools such as 3D and laser printers!!!!???? PEOPLE ARE HOMELESS AND YOU POLITICIANS HAVE YOUR HEADS IN THE SAND. No I am not homeless, but I see them on the street. Also, there are many people who are poor and can't afford the price of food even though they are working full time. But NO, OUR POLITICIANS WANT TO SPEND MONEY WHICH COULD ADDRESS THESE PROBLEMS ON A COMMUNITY HUB (AND STASH SOME OF THE CASH INTO THEIR POCKETS. SHAME ON YOU.

I understand the desire to have a showpiece community hub for Chatham, but I feel that there are so many more significant ways that this money could be spent that would benefit ALL of Chatham-Kent. Please consider taking the needs of rural (ie: not living within the city of Chatham) citizens into account before you spend our money (yet again) on the city of Chatham. We have libraries, municipal centres, arenas, pools, and parks that are in need of attention, and we pay taxes to do this. We aren't asking for a municipal supercentre, just the continuation and care towards the services that we need.

I know that people are upset about the potential for tax increases, but if we don't invest in Chatham-Kent, no one will and we will die out slowly. We have a lot to offer, but our downtown is currently a mess. This will improve the downtown significantly and therefore improve Chatham-kent as a whole. Flow of traffic for access and parking to be carefully studied as traffic back up and lack of parking will discourage users. Chatham-Kent folks don't like to pay for parking. I suggest free at least for first year or two until people get accustomed to going and simply can't stay away, even if they have to pay! And consideration must be given to not take up parking needed for retail businesses and restaurants currently on King and adjoining side streets.

Anonymous

8/06/2024 09:37 PM

I think everyone would love a brand new community hub but has consideration been given to putting more tax burden on so many

Anonymous

8/06/2024 10:08 PM

I don't like that the library is a part of this hub. It doesn't seem like it's gaining much from being a part of it, and it seems like it will be a much worse experience to go to the library if it moves to the new location. The Civic Centre and Museum seem fine moving there but the moving the library to that location, which has worries about the second floor being able to hold the library's collection, on top of being in a busier spot with worse parking seems like a bad decision.

If more space is needed for human services, tech studies etc., perhaps that could be located in one of the many empty buildings around the downtown.

Parking. I would honestly say I hesitate going anywhere downtown because parking is difficult. Also, I am sure I don't need to tell you this when looking at survey results or listening to what people have to say - the "complainers" will be the loudest and the ones that love it will speak their mind, but I believe a large portion of people are indifferent, happy if it happens, okay if it doesn't and aren't going to say anything. Just because there are some loud complainers doesn't mean they speak for everyone.

Optional question (784 response(s), 298 skipped)

Question type: Essay Question

Q16 | The proposed Community Hub is accessible by transit with the Downtown Chatham Transit Terminal nearby on Centre Street, and will include additional bicycle racks, in addition to parking options for customers on-street, in the parking garage and the surface lot for the mall property. The project is also considering making changes to some of the parking areas around the building. The changes being considered include: Adding parking spaces in a new surface lot at the rear of the building next to the entrance to the library, designating additional spaces in this area for accessible parking. Designating spaces along 5th Street and King Street in the vicinity of the building for accessible parking and short-term parking uses during the daytime (e.g. for pick-up/drop-off uses, such as dropping off a library book). How would you plan to visit the proposed Community Hub? Tell us your thoughts on the different options to access the Hub, and on the parking changes being considered in the area of the building.

Unless you repair the decrepit parking garage and get rid of the riff-raff in the stairways, it will be unsafe for the general public or your staff who will now have to park here and walk into the building.

Anonymous

I would never take my bike and leave it downtown; it would be stolen. I would like to see that the parking to this building to be free. If this move is meant to improve services having closest parking available instead of walking a block to the library would be helpful. I would like the parking areas to be well lit for staff and patrons for safety concerns.

Anonymous

7/17/2024 01:16 PM

Most likely I will not visit the hub as I live in an outlying area. What will the parking fees be? Who profits from those fees?

Anonymous

7/17/2024 01:33 PM

Easily-accessible handicapped parking will be fundamental to hundreds of users if this plan goes ahead. According to my Council contact there is basically no interest in providing adequate handicapped parking or easy walking distance to library services. Walking from the parking garage is nowhere near easy access.

I live in Merlin, so I would only be able to drive there unless CK Transit majorly expands the frequency of its trips between Merlin and Chatham (which would be very welcome). As such, parking is important for me. However, I think that making the space accessible for public transit (and improving Chatham's public transit) should be the priority for that area. Many residents of CK are low income (particularly compared to the province as a whole) and making it easier for these people to benefit from the hub is top of mind for me.

Propose designated parking spaces for mobility scooters, scooters, ebikes. These require a parking space but dont need to take up an entire big space.. half the width and length of a normal parking space, these spaces close to the building doors or windows so they can keep an eye on their 'ride' would be amazing and something Ive been waiting to see in town for awhile now. Parking is critical, but making sure parking is available is even more important. Reducing the number of admin staff in this building will free up the lot space to be used by Hub patrons rather than staff who work in the building. If parking is not available, is inconvenient or is inaccessible, patrons will be less apt to visit the space. Currently King Street is a street many avoid due to parking issues or lack of parking and so if the hub is going to be there, parking needs to be specifically addressed (ex. no employees from other buildings like Judy LaMarsh Building taking up space in the lots).

My preferred way to get downtown is transit. Move transit stops to King/Fifth so that it is easy to get into the building without crossing a four-lane road and to Kings Street shops using the safer signalled crossing at King/Fifth. I probably would not visit it at all. I wonder how many years it would take to complete it and how long the construction would go on. I don't think future generations will care about libraries, museums or civic centres. It would have been a better idea to preserve and maintain the older buildings, including the mall and try to attract popular businesses downtown instead of having big box stores outside of town. I can remember when downtown Chatham was thriving and busy with shoppers and a pleasant place to be. I don't see that anymore.

Likely would be a good idea to install more EV charging stations in the parking area. The two in front of the present Civic Centre won't be enough and are a bit too far away from this downtown site. Also install lots of benches for folks to sit at outside and at the Chatham Transit Terminal. Hopefully folks will also take the municipal busses into Chatham from Merlin, Blenheim etc. to access these programs but with more folks coming, they need a place to sit while waiting for their bus home.

I'm from outside the city so parking is a must. a parking garage holds many more cars but the distance needs to be more central and accessible to all areas of the building and services. Also, the building should be an architectural phenomenon not a box that could be built anywhere. The museum and library deserve a building that speaks to art and culture. Not a Box. Get some jazz in the architecture. Make it a sightseeing spectacle.

It's unclear what the implications for parking are. I see there is a plan to keep 175 spaces for the ontario services/library/museum, but how does that compare with what is currently available and how will you ensure that those spaces are kept for people accessing those services versus those going downtown to shop? One thing I really appreciate about Chatham is not having to pay for parking every where I go. Let's keep it that way if at all possible! Otherwise you'll build something and people won't frequent it as much as you would like, and you'll likely face backlash from community members now forced to pay additional costs.

7/30/2024 04:40 AM

More parking especially if the parking garage is to be shared with the mall. Having to walk a mile to go to the library with young kids won't

Get the busses to make a stop at or very near the mall doors, seniors/PWD who have to take the bus will find it hard to travel from the terminal, across the street, across the entire parking lot to the entrance. Especially in rough weather.

Unless the parking is monitored there will be "abuse" of the short term parking. Is there a way to have drive through book drop off where like mailing a letter downtown you drive up drop the book into a slot and drive off?

Anonymous

7/30/2024 07:46 AM

There should be a location for parking that makes it as easy to return a book at the new location as it is to do it today at the Chatham branch. It would be crazy to have to circle the block a couple times just to run in and return a book.

Downtown parking is very limited and difficult to access during the day as it is right now. It is vital that the city increase parking in the east end of King Street. All of these options need to be considered and implemented if the CKCH is going to be a usable option for anyone outside of walking distance (which is generally how I access the downtown core- but there are times I can't walk-rain, picking up or dropping off an item)

As someone with mobility challenges who does not use mobility devices or designated accessible parking, the proposed layout would not be navigable for me if parking near the area I was trying to access was full and I needed to park further away. I couldn't tell where the Service Ontario site would be because the labels on your renderings were not legible when I increased magnification of the documents. Moving mandatory services like the Service Ontario office from a location where I can easily park and walk into the office in a few steps, to an expansive location where I may need to walk long distances is a step backwards away from accessibility for me.

It's good that there are option for people using public transit, but I'm concerned there may not be enough spaces for private vehicles to all park. I already pay the city for my own parking spot because I work downtown, so with any downtown centre, the primary concern is parking.

Generally we drive to the library for very quick visits. One thing I do not see in the plan is an outdoor book drop off/ parking spot for those less than 5min visits. (Which our visits often are). Needing to park in the garage and then walking all the through to a book drop slot would be very annoying.

All existing employees coming to work at the same time as well as the new "mall" portion? And if Retro Suites expands to connect there will be less and less parking. I honestly don't know if I would visit often. I have only been to the civic centre a handful of times in my life and most were not for me but helping someone with an errand. I have never been in the museum and don't even know what they have - it is not promoted well. I used to use the library but I get ebooks online through their service now.

Mandatory Question (1082 response(s))

Question type: Essay Question

Q17 | Do you have any suggestions for how technology could be used to enhance the user experience of the proposed Community Hub?

Anonymous

7/17/2024 10:13 AM

Technology is constantly changing, therefore I'd recommend against putting too much emphasis on technology. I attended a brand new high school 'super-school' in 1998-2000 with computers for almost every student, projectors everywhere, etc. and this was outdated in only 5-6 years. Use technology not as a focal point, but rather to enhance the services (i.e. appropriately equipped conference rooms, display screens with information/announcements).

Anonymous

7/17/2024 10:13 AM

Yes! Use your eyes and ears. Listen and read what the community is really saying. Please wake up. No!

I have seen a tv documentary about on TVO called Life-Sized City where they demonstrate how large cities have dealt with and have revitalized areas in the featured cities that have made the city safer and functional, and community based. Chatham is dealing with some big city issues that could be helped with what other cities have done. These ideas do include technology.

Anonymous

7/17/2024 01:16 PM

Technology - keep it simple as frequent failures, programming glitches etc make technology unusable unless a sufficient budget exists to hire highly skilled troubleshooters 24/7. My additional comments for #9 We already have those available at TAG and libraries. Artists often do not have the financial means to rent spaces and creatively find ways to make do. If you are proposing that these spaces be no cost I can get behind that idea somewhat. Please make it possible to make additional comments to each question of the survey. This is not an efficient, effective or well balanced survey if additional thoughts or opinions are not expressed for each of your queries. I have read too many biased surveys lately and this one falls into thst category. How about instead of a survey call it an"envisioning and convincing others of the dream of a few".

How will the safety of King Street be improved? One cannot walk down the main downtown street without numerous homeless and unkept people harassing and intimidating those passing by. Until the Municipality can reign in taxes, we need to keep the status quo. Many civic centre employees are allowed to work from home so there must be adequate space. This questionnaire fails to mention the enormous cost to build a new fire hall. The owners of the mall need to reduce the rents and work on attracting new business. Maybe some temporary tax relief. The current city hall needs to be maintained. Look at Stratford's downtown. Vibrant and busy due in large part to the Theatres. Chatham doesn't have that option. I support the Capital every chance I get but it's still not Stratford. More than a hub, the downtown needs stores. You can't even get a good pair of shoes downtown now a days. My taxes are already at my financial limit and the Hub will push it up and beyond.

Please honestly and publicly report all survey results - how many in favour - how many opposed. It seems your survey is slanted towards assuming the project is a "go". So far, it is not supposed to be a done deal. I am hoping to see the COST of the renos compared to improving and maintaining what we have - with possible plans for a proper museum - not just a museum in name only. Where does the fire hall fit in with all these plans, by the way? Should the cost of a new fire hall not be included in the cost of the Sears building purchase? It will be an additional expense related to moving to the Sears site.

Keep the power on for the handicap doors. Something to appeal to 20-40 year olds so that the younger generation wants to say. Social media (not Facebook) profile for all activities that can be readily searched and not buried in seperate calendar postings for each. Kiosks rather than staffed counters. One night a week that is designated as a family night with food trucks and activities and vendors to bring people downtown. Put solar cells above all the parking spaces. Anonymous 7/30/2024 02:45 PM	1. The services should be able to be booked online as well as through the phone. 2. Use social media to advertise the features of the Community Hub to encourage the public to use the services. 3. Have an online suggestion/complaint forum to help streamline services and make them the most efficient they can be. 4. As I stated above there are many technological security features that can be applied to make the space safe and to keep the area in good condition. 5. Automatic doors for the impaired and elderly could be useful. 6. Although it has nothing to do with "user experience", using renewable energy solutions in the Community Hub should be taken into consideration. Not only is this environmentally friendly but in the long run it will save a lot of money.

We can't afford what the mayor and councillors want. The project will end up costing twice as much. We can't afford more taxes to pay for this project. People are barely paying for groceries and every day bills. Keep adding more taxes to Chatham Kent Citizen and you will have more homeless to provide for. People will go to other communities where they can afford to live.

Not sure about using self-service technology. I'm kind of self-serviced out, at least in the retail world. However, technology could be used for digital billboards outside the building, possibly on St. Clair and in all CK communities that advertise upcoming events at "The Hub". Not everyone will go looking for events on a website. I'll bet the vast majority of people have no idea what goes on in the museum and library now because it's not "out there". It may be old school but if even some local journalists will write "who goes to a library nowadays?" it's pretty clear that they still think of it as a paper book resource only with not much going on. Same goes for the museum - not enough advertising, or not in the right places, for non-regular users to be aware of what is going on. Activities and events being held in this space should be advertised front and center using various forms of media and technology. Perhaps in the mall portion a digital advertising events in The Hub as well. Additionally, interactive displays, virtual reality exhibits, etc (think Science North) would be great for the museum. But I'm no expert in this area

Summary of Public Consultation Feedback:

The public consultation process provided insights into various aspects of the proposed project. Community feedback covered a broad range of areas, each highlighting different perspectives and priorities. The following summary outlines some areas discussed and provides a general overview of the positive feedback, mixed opinions, and concerns raised by residents.

Public Consultation Overview of Feedback

Positive Responses:

Support for the Project:

- Positive feedback was expressed in general support for the Community Hub, highlighting its potential to bring community benefits and enhance local engagement.

Architectural Vision:

- Positive feedback was received regarding the proposed architectural plans, described as "wonderful" and aligning with a modern, forward-looking vision for the community.

Efficient Use of Existing Building:

- Several comments appreciated the decision to repurpose the existing Sears building, viewing it as a cost-effective and sustainable choice.

Long-Term Investment:

- Some noted the value of investing in community infrastructure now for long-term gains, noting potential economic and social benefits.

Project Team: Noted

Public Consultation Overview of Feedback

Positive Responses:

Enhancing Downtown Chatham:

- In some responses the project was seen as a significant opportunity to revitalize and improve the downtown area, making it a more attractive and vibrant space for residents and visitors.

Desire for a Showpiece:

- A portion of feedback expressed a desire for a central, attractive hub that would serve as a landmark and foster community pride.

Project Team: Noted

Concerns: Public Consultation Overview of Feedback

Financial Concerns or Inequity in Benefits

- Many respondents are worried about the project's cost, especially its potential impact on taxes.
- Several comments suggest that the funds should be used for more pressing needs like road repairs, existing facility upgrades, or other municipal services.
- Some feedback indicates a belief that the Community Hub will primarily benefit Chatham residents, despite being funded by all taxpayers across Chatham-Kent.
- There is a sense of unfairness, particularly among residents from outside Chatham, who feel that the benefits will not be equitably distributed.
- A number of respondents propose alternative uses for the funds, such as:
 - Building a new arena or improving existing recreational facilities.
 - Investing in projects that are perceived to have more immediate or widespread benefits across different areas of Chatham-Kent.

Project Team: The project aims to balance improvements across the municipality by investing in downtown Chatham-Kent in alignment with Council Strategic priority while ensuring resources are allocated to other regions as needed. The project team is performing thorough reviews of the project budget, ensuring that all expenditures are in alignment with the project deliverables and that the project provides long-term benefits to the community. Transparent financial management and ongoing evaluations will continue to be priorities to review and validate the value of the investment.

Public Consultation Overview of Feedback

Concerns:

Necessity and Usage

- Many comments reflect concern about the need for a new Community Hub, with some questioning whether it will be well-utilized or necessary at all.
- Concerns are raised about potential underuse or whether the community would actually engage with the new facility.

The project team has optimized the layout to support the intended functions of the Hub, including adjustments to improve the flow and efficiency of the space. Flexibility has been incorporated into the design to accommodate future needs and changes in community use. The placement of key facilities has been carefully reviewed to enhance access and interaction among users.

Public Consultation Overview of Feedback

Concerns:

Project Scope and Impact

- Some comments identify concern of the scope of the project as too ambitious or out of touch with community needs.
- Concerns about the project's potential disruption during construction and the long-term impact on local businesses and traffic flow.

Project Team: The project is designed to address both the current challenges of the downtown facilities and the future needs of the community. Efforts are being made to ensure that essential improvements, such as enhancing safety, accessibility, and functionality, are prioritized within the project scope. By focusing on these core issues, the aim is to create a downtown area that effectively serves residents today while being adaptable for future growth and changes

Concerns:

Security and Safety Concerns

- Concerns about the need for enhanced security measures to protect visitors and staff.
- Suggestions for improvements in lighting, surveillance, and security personnel to address potential safety issues in and around the hub.

Project Team: The project team is implementing comprehensive security measures into the design, including surveillance cameras and improved lighting, to address general safety concerns and potential criminal activity. The Hub will also include increased security presence in the Hub.

Public Consultation Overview of Feedback

Concerns:

Parking

- Parking availability is a concern, with comments pointing out that inadequate parking could deter people from using the hub.
- Some suggest the need for more accessible, sufficient, and potentially free parking solutions to avoid congestion and inconvenience.

Project Team: The design includes additional barrier-free and short-term parking, surpassing requirements noting that that the design meets the target for accessibility considerations and best practices with a travel distance of approximately 200 – 250 feet from the parking garage to the building. Through the Municipality's agreement with the mall, the mall is also required provide and maintain 175 dedicated parking spaces (with the option to procure an additional 25) for administration staff with the remainder available for public use. The mall owners are required to supply for all Barrier Free parking for the property as mandated. The Project Team is also reviewing opportunities for on-street parking along 5th and King Street for drop-off and accessible parking.

- Suggests specific changes to address concerns, such as relocating the Council chambers and ensuring all public library services are on the first floor if second-floor access is restricted.

Museum Feedback:

- Storage Flexibility: Potential need for increased storage if display areas expand, aligning storage with exhibition needs.
- Long-term Planning: Emphasis on understanding display areas to ensure proper allocation of storage, office, and workroom space for sustainability.

Previous Feedback Discussion

Consideration

- Storage Flexibility: Highlighting the potential need for increased storage if the display area expands beyond the suggested range, emphasizing the importance of aligning storage requirements with exhibition needs.
- Long-term Planning: The committee emphasizes the need for a clear understanding of the intended display area to ensure appropriate allocation of storage, office, and workroom space for the museum's sustainable usage over time.
 - Project Team: The Project Team has accounted for the current requirements of the project outline. Ensuring adaptability is key. The design allows for potential expansion of exhibit areas, aligning with possible future needs. Any discussions on future expansion will need to consider stakeholder requirements.

Previous Feedback Discussion

Consideration:

- Accessibility Concerns: Long corridors and mall navigation hinder library access, posing challenges for seniors, families, and individuals with mobility issues.
 - Project Team: The project Team is committed to following all best practices to mitigate challenges and ensure access for all stakeholders.
- Parking Issues: Insufficient accessible, short-term, and drop-off parking, coupled with limited long-term parking, raises concerns about convenience for patrons.
 - Project Team: The design includes additional barrier-free and short-term parking, surpassing code requirements. The Project Team is also reviewing on street parking along 5th and King Street for drop off and accessible parking.
- Spatial Limitations: Inadequate space allocation for library expansion within the current footprint jeopardizes meeting future community needs.
 - Project Team: The design exceeds the required space for library expansion of 35,000 sq. ft., ensuring ample room for community growth. The current design accounts for 43,569 sq. ft. this is a net increase of 8,569 sq. ft. or 24.5%

Previous Feedback Discussion

Consideration:

- Security and Atmosphere: Poor sightlines, a narrow layout, and limited outdoor gathering spaces may compromise staff security and create an unwelcoming atmosphere for patrons.
 - Project Team: Safety is paramount. Library sightlines have been refined for visibility and the property will be inclusive of welcoming indoor and outdoor spaces.
- Social Implications: Combining varied Civic Centre needs, including increased security measures, risks alienating vulnerable patrons, impacting the library's role as a vital public space.
 - Project Team: Maintaining inclusivity is crucial. The project team will prioritize the balancing of stakeholders' needs to preserve a welcoming space for all.
- Concerns about the Facility Accessibility Design Standards (FADS) meeting all accessibility requirements: Emphasized the need for accessibility to be considered throughout the entire building design process and highlighted that while FADS are beneficial, they may not always address functionality.
 - Project Team: Ensuring accessibility is paramount. While FADS are beneficial, the design process integrates accessibility considerations comprehensively by considering aspects like room layout, colors, and other elements. The project team will include best practices and prioritize functionality to ensure inclusivity.

Previous Feedback Discussions

Consideration:

Accessibility and Location:

Inconvenient Access: The proposed design positions the library in a less accessible location compared to the Council Chambers and Museum. Long distances and lengthy corridors impede access, particularly for seniors, families with young children, and people with mobility issues.

Project Team:

- Access to the library from all entry points, whether through the mall or the exterior of the building, is being carefully considered in the design process. To ensure accessibility for all stakeholders, including those with diverse needs, the design incorporates elevators, architectural stairs, and other amenities across all floors of the library, museum, and civic areas within the hub.
- Dedicated Facilities: Dedicated washroom facilities are being considered to enhance the comfort and convenience of patrons.
- The proposed entry points in the current design provides similar access to both Library and Museum main entrances. These entrance are purposely located within the centre of the floor plan to provide equal access to washrooms, stair and elevators (for staff), Universal washroom, Family washrooms gender neutral washroom and nursing rooms.

Previous Feedback Discussions

Consideration:

Parking Challenges:

The existing parking facility raises significant safety and accessibility concerns. Structural issues, lighting, and barrier-free parking alone are insufficient. Reliance on private elevators is deemed unacceptable.

Project Team:

- Barrier-Free and Short-Term Parking: The project team notes that the design includes additional barrier-free and short-term parking, in addition to the parking being provided by the mall owners. The Project Team would note that the mall owners are required through our agreement to provide and maintain parking spaces that includes for all Barrier Free parking for the property. The Project Team is also reviewing on-street parking along 5th and King Street for drop-off and accessible parking.
- Library is equipped with a dedicated elevator, architectural feature stair, and two exit stairs all within the Library area.
- The design provides additional barrier free parking spaces at the rear entrance to the Library.
- Parking Lighting: the project team recognize the importance of adequate lighting in parking areas for safety and convenience where overall lighting for the Hub will be considered through detailed design.

Previous Feedback Discussions

Consideration:

Expansion Limitations:

Limited Expansion Capacity: The current footprint restricts future expansion, which is crucial for accommodating community growth. Provision should be made for future expansion to meet growing demands.

Project Team:

- The design exceeds the required space for library expansion of 35,000 sq. ft., ensuring ample room for community growth. The current design accounts for 43,569 sq. ft., a net increase of 8,569 sq. ft., or 24.5%, providing flexibility to accommodate future needs as the community evolves.
- All 3 main program functions achieve their current space demands in addition to future growth. The civic centre is equipped with a 13% growth within their respective area.
- The proposed addition facing King Street can be equipped with future expansion capability. This would provide for an additional 10,000 sq. ft. which would permit approx. 9.8% of total building growth potential by designing the structural system to support and additional floor.

Previous Feedback Discussions

Consideration:

Washroom Accessibility:

- Universal Washroom Access: There should be universally accessible washrooms on both floors, designed to be fully inclusive with features such as assistive buttons, adjustable counters, adult change tables, and appropriately placed hand dryers and soap dispensers. Washrooms should be gender-neutral to accommodate all gender identities.
- Distances to washrooms.

Project Team:

- Washroom placement within the facility ensures they are conveniently accessible to the public, aligning with best practices that suggest accessible washrooms should ideally be within 45-60 meters (approximately 150-200 feet) from the areas they serve.

Previous Feedback Discussions

Consideration:

Alternative Proposal:

Alternative Space Allocation: An alternative library space allocation is proposed to enhance staffing efficiency, workflows, sight lines, and security. This plan aims to provide easy access to the library from the street, mall, and parking garage levels, while allowing public use of certain second-floor.

Project Team:

- Modernized Environment: The project Team notes that the CK Hub aims to integrate the Civic Centre, Library, and Museum into a modernized environment, providing an opportunity to meet current needs and future trends. Civic buildings are vital to a community's identity, and the CK Hub's success relies on strong collaboration among all three participants.
- Community Identity: The Civic Centre should lead the building's concept, fostering a strong connection with residents and visitors while presenting a welcoming gateway for potential investors. Strategic placement of key functions such as the Council Chamber and customer service areas are crucial, requiring strategic placement for accessibility and security.

Alternative Space Allocation: An alternative library space allocation is proposed to enhance staffing efficiency, workflows, sight lines, and security. This plan aims to provide easy access to the library from the street, mall, and parking garage levels, while allowing public use of certain second-floor.

Project Team:

- Design Adjustments: The suggestions for relocating the Council Chambers and adjusting library space have been considered. This potential adjustment does not fit with the building concept whereby the principle entrance for the CK Hub is proposed to be from King Street. The King Street entrance maximizes the potential for greater plaza and seating area. This opportunity is a key design principle for the CK Hub that can provide benefit to all 3 users. The outdoor plaza in close proximity to principle entrance and indoor reception & security is typical to all civic buildings. CK Hub when considered as a Civic Building, should be expressed as a cornerstone within the downtown core. The building expression is best when the King Street frontage is used and is a key consideration why the principle entrance is located on this building face and all users can take advantage of.

Previous Feedback Discussions

Consideration:

Assistive Technologies:

Assistive Listening Devices: These should be available throughout the building, with a preference for Bluetooth technology to aid individuals with hearing impairments.

Project Team:

- Assistive listening devices, preferably with Bluetooth technology, will be available throughout the building to support individuals with hearing impairments.

Chatham-Kent Community Hub

Detailed (Concept) Block Design

Creating a Cohesive and Vibrant Community Hub

The goal of this project is to create a multifunctional building that meets community needs, staff needs, and all accessibility requirements. Building a community hub that combines a civic center, library, and museum fosters a cohesive, efficient, and vibrant community with multifaceted benefits.

However, it's important to recognize that it's not possible to completely satisfy all requests.

We must focus on creating a functional building that meets all its requirements, not tailored to specific users or groups only. The project team will continue to drive the project forward to an updated, functional community asset that is accessible, accommodating, inclusive, interactive, and an integrated community hub."

1. Review Terms of Reference
 - a. No comments and accepted.
2. Review of previous minutes
 - a. No comments and accepted.
3. Review of Agenda
 - a. No comments and accepted.
4. Project Overview
 - a. Review of Feedback From SEG & Individual Committee meetings
 - i. The Project Team presented an overview of the of the feedback received from the public consultation process to provided insights into various aspects of the proposed project where Community feedback covered a broad range of areas, each highlighting different perspectives and priorities. The Project Team also revisited the previous comments received from the SEG Committee to re visit previous concerns. During this overview the following points were raised:
 - Committee questioned about offsite storage and questioned if the project is accounting for this as well in the design. Project Team confirmed that the design accounts for the anticipated storage area requirements as provided.
 - Committee comment: Concerns were raised regarding the library's location, noting that it was not the preferred location based on its length-to-width ratio impacting accessibility at the main desk, and potential security, staffing, and sightline issues with the addition of a third door. The Project Team noted that the design addresses accessibility concerns and includes enhanced security measures. The longer layout benefits the library by increasing natural daylight. The Project Team reiterated its commitment to delivering high-quality service and ensuring the best options are presented to Council.

- Committee comment: Concerns were raised about the washroom near the parking garage entrance, and washrooms located within the library space overall specifically to the potential security and operational burden on the library staff. The Project Team noted that staff already manage similar facilities and that the new design will improve upon current washroom standards. The Municipality already has robust security measures in place, with operational protocols to address any challenges. Additionally, the team will explore the option of adding sensors, similar to those used in the Guelph library washrooms in the proposed design during the Detailed Design phase.
- Committee questioned if dedicated library spaces could be identified within the administrative areas outside of the designated library spaces. The Project Team explained that this approach conflicts with the Community Hub model being developed. The design is intended to avoid departments or staff claiming specific areas of the building.
- Committee questioned if the library will have access to washrooms on the second floor. The Project Team confirmed that there will be dedicated accessible washrooms on the second floor for the library.
- Committee questions how wayfinding will be addressed. The Project Team noted that Accessibility is a top priority. The project team is ensuring that the building complies with accessibility code requirements and best practices, including clear signage and wayfinding where that the design will facilitate easy navigation for everyone, including those with mobility challenges and seniors.
- Committee expressed concerns about the safety of the proposed architectural stair and associated seating area. The Project Team noted that this design is successfully used in other buildings. However, if modifications are deemed necessary, adjustments can be made during the detailed design phase.
- The Committee asked for clarification on the proposed theater-style seating in the Council Chambers, specifically regarding visibility from the back of the room and how movable seating will be handled. The Project Team explained that the seating style was selected to allow the room to function as a flexible space. Storage for the chairs has been accounted for, and image magnification screens will be included to ensure clear sightlines for all participants.

- Committee requested clarification on the proposed horseshoe design of the Council Chambers. The Project Team explained that the design reflects best practices and is modeled after the recently built Windsor Council Chambers.
- Committee questioned if there has been considerations made to the impacts of the Cultural Center pending the decisions to be made related to the Chatham Kent Community Hub. Project Team notes that this is not a part of this project Scope.

b. Overview of project schedule

- i. The Project Team presented an overview of the schedule and provided an update on current progress noting that the project Team were now finalizing the cost estimates and preparing to return to Council in the fall.

- ii. Next Steps Discussion:

- The Project Team outlined pending Council Direction the Project Team would begin the following steps:
 1. Q4 2024: Initiate detailed design, refining all design elements and preparing for construction procurement.
 2. Q1 2025: Present updated project budget to Council, reflecting final estimated costs.
 3. Q2 2025: Initiate construction procurement and seek Council approval for award of construction contract.
 4. Q3 2025: Award contract and commence construction.
- Committee questioned if there will be further engagement with the Accessibility Committee during the Detailed Design Phase. The Project Team confirmed that they will continue to be engaged in the Detailed Design process.
